Hopes to Keep Goldwater From First Ballot Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton moved his campaign for the Republican nomination onto firmer ground today with the full support of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But the Pennsylvania governor, carrying the flag of Republican moderates, plainly had a lot of running to do to catch up with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The expected addition of 56 Texas delegate votes today would give Goldwater 674 publicly committed on the first ballot, 19 more than the 655 needed for the nomination. He expects to get 14 more from Montana this week.

Fire Put Out Aboard Yacht

Coast Guard Helps 3 Members of Armour Family

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — Coast guardsmen, answering a "May day" distress call, put out an engine room fire aboard a yacht in Lake Michigan Monday carrying three members of the Armour meat packing family of Chicago.

The 68-foot yacht Cyrena was towed to port here with her passengers and three crew members. No injuries were reported.

Aboard were Philip D. Armour Jr., 46, great-grandson of the Armour company founder; his wife, Julia, and their daughter, Sandra, 18.

The Coast Guard said the group was on the way to Les Cheneaux Islands of upper Lake Huron. The yacht was close to shore because of heavy seas and the crew had planned to bring her to port, the guard said.

Chief boatswain's mate Royce Fulcher of the Coast Guard lifeboat station here boarded the Cyrena with other guardsmen and put out the fire. The engine room and crew quarters were reported damaged.

"The Coast Guard was there in two or three minutes," said Fulcher. "They doused the fire with foam and water. Fortunately no one was hurt."

"I doff my hat to the Coast Guard. They were marvelous."

Fond du Lac Boy Drowns in River

FOND DU LAC (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Tom Christus drowned in the Fond du Lac River Monday while he and several companions were swimming under a railroad bridge.

The boys told police they were pretending that they were Army frogmen planting dynamite under the bridge. Tom apparently was caught in underfoot and pulled beneath the surface. Firemen dragged for 20 minutes before locating the body.

Tom was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Christus of Fond du Lac.

The series is called "Flowers I Have Known."

General Has High Praise for 32nd Division

CAMP MCCOY (AP) — An inspecting general said Monday that Wisconsin's 32nd Division "is the best qualified National Guard division I have ever seen," and could move "instantly" into action if needed.

Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Moses, deputy Fifth Army commander, inspected the Red Arrow division on its first full day of field training in its two-week summer program.

Moses also said he would like to see the 32nd upgraded in the nation's defense program. Following its release from active duty at Ft. Lewis, Wash., during the Berlin crisis, the division was reduced from a "ready" unit to one of "reinforcement."

Ready units are regarded as fit for combat 30 days after callup, but reinforcement divisions required additional training, and such units may be broken up to fill gaps in other organizations.

Lumber Firm Shed Burns at Seymour

Spectacular Blaze Seen 25 Miles Away; Sparks Believed Cause

Flames believed to have been touched off by a welding spark destroyed a large lumber storage shed at Seymour Lumber Co. this morning.

The spectacular blaze, which sent flames and black smoke towering hundreds of feet into the air, was started about 10 a.m. In the brief span of 10 minutes the entire roof of the structure, estimated at 120 by 40 feet, was ablaze, witnesses said.

Seymour and Black Creek fire departments battled the blaze for about 1½ hours before bringing it under control. At noon they were still pouring water on the charred remains. The building was partially filled with lumber.

No Estimates There have been no estimates on the loss in supplies or their value.

Lost in the inferno was the firm's entire prime lumber stock. Machines and materials from the nearby cabinet shop were saved.

Fire for a time, threatened sheds containing bulk coal supplies and plywood slabs.

Fire was concentrated in the west section of the old stone building which had been remodeled in recent years to include office space and a paint department.

Some welding was being performed in the building, and it was believed at first sparks

Rockefeller and Aides Confer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called a meeting today of his campaign leaders "from all parts of the country" to confer on his withdrawal from the race for the Republican presidential nomination in favor of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

In his brief announcement late Monday, the New York governor said he was not releasing any delegates at that time "because of the necessity for consultation with delegates pledged to me by law or otherwise and for technical reasons."

Woman Tells Police About Gunman Hiding In Automobile Trunk

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — It looked suspicious to a woman passerby in the bank parking lot.

First a man clutching a handful of money ran out of the bank, climbed into the trunk of a parked car and slammed the lid shut.

Then out of the bank came bank employees, yelling for police.

When officers arrived, the woman related what she had seen.

Out of the trunk they flushed Wilford Lawrence Taylor, 23, along with a pistol and $1,930.

Police booked him on suspicion of bank robbery Monday.

Tembler Is Held Worst Since 1923

BY JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A tremendous earthquake set off fires and caused millions of dollars in damage today to Niigata, major port city in northern Japan. Eight persons were killed, two were missing and 108 injured by the quake that jolted the city for 2½ minutes.

Police listed the over-all toll in the stricken northern Japan area including Niigata at 21 dead, 2 missing and 129 injured.

City's Third Disaster It was the third disaster to strike Niigata in two decades. The important industrial-commercial city of 290,000 was destroyed by a U.S. air raid in the closing days of World War II.

The city was rebuilt, only to be leveled by a fire in October, 1955.

The temblor — strongest in Japan since the catastrophic quake of 1923 wiped out Tokyo and Yokohama—hit a vast area of the main Japanese island of Honshu at 1:01 p.m.

Fracturing Reports Sending a massive ground wave through 10 northern prefectures with a total population of 15 million, it left behind a trail of dead and suffering, flaming industrial installations, broken highways and railways and ugly fissures in the countryside.

Word from Niigata remained fragmentary tonight. But an emergency telecast from the stricken city showed blazing oil tanks, a destroyed bridge and an eight-story hospital tilting on its shattered foundation.

Explosions could be heard in the background as the pictures flashed on screens in Tokyo.

Water Shortage Shortage of water made it impossible to fight flames from burning oil tanks. There was from the operation were the origin of the fire.

Firemen managed to save the company's office, a nearby cabinet shop and other storage sheds in the building complex.

Seen at Shawano Propane gas tanks stored at the rear of the burning structure endangered fire fighters.

They also managed to keep the flames from spreading to a nearby oil storage tank.

The flames and smoke were visible in Shawano, some 25 miles away.

The company is owned by Elmer and Harold Krahn.

The mid-morning flight of North Central Air Lines was heading west when the blaze was at its peak and banked over the scene.

Bus Runs Into Lake Off Broken Bridge

2 Heavy Barges Crash Into Causeway; 6 Passengers Die

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two barges smashed a gap in the world's longest bridge between a town on the northern end of the causeway—reached the gap shortly after the bus fell.

ways bus plunged over the edge into Lake Pontchartrain, killing six passengers.

Divers recovered some of the bodies from the bus, submerged in about 15 feet of the brackish water. A Coast Guard helicopter rescued one man and plucked another body from the lake.

Driver Survives The bus driver was one of two survivors. Five bodies were recovered. One body was trapped in the bus wreckage.

The heavy barges, one loaded with gravel and the other with a big dredge, knocked down about 200 feet of the causeway—a low bridge resembling a highway on stilts.

The causeway extends 24 miles from New Orleans north across the lake. Cause of the collision was not immediately determined.

The identity of the dead was not immediately learned.

Causeway Jammed The bus driver, Ernest Vaughn of Jackson, Miss., was reported in critical condition at a New Orleans hospital.

The barges, pushed by the towboat Rebel Jr., jammed the causeway about eight miles from the New Orleans end.

John Lambert, chairman of the Greater New Orleans Exposition Commission, said the causeway will be reopened to traffic in about 10 days, if weather conditions permit.

Jackie Church, 19, of Mandeville—a town on the northern end of the causeway—reached the gap shortly after the bus fell.

Church said he dove in and pulled one man from the water.

One of the rescued was William Cockerham, an Army sergeant from Baton Rouge, La. He was taken to a New Orleans hospital.

Probe Begun Into Alleged Sale of Babies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee opened hearings today on the sale of infants for adoption and heard testimony that children are sold for as high as $7,500 on the baby black market.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency, began the hearings with a statement that there desine trade in babies, both interstate and from foreign countries.

Under study is legislation that would provide imprisonment of up to five years or a $10,000 fine or both "for anyone who profited from the placement of a child for adoption if the child were transported in interstate or foreign commerce."

The sanction would not apply to legitimate welfare agencies.

Witnesses for the first of two days of hearing included Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Welfare, and Theresa L. Heath of the New York City Police Department, assigned to the district attorney's office squad.

Nikita Given Friendly Reception But Few Cheers in Danish Visit

BY RONALD THOMSON

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Premier Khrushchev arrived in Copenhagen today at the start of a three-week visit to Scandinavia and received a friendly but low-keyed reception from thin crowds of Danes.

The lack-luster atmosphere was in striking contrast to the boisterous crowds which howled with enthusiasm for Khrushchev on his recent visit to Egypt.

Ship Movements Batted The Soviet liner Bashkirta with Khrushchev and his party accompanied by his three daughters, Julia, Rada and Elena, and a party of Soviet officials including Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

All ship movements in the harbor—one of the world's busiest—were halted for Khrushchev's arrival. A Danish frigate and a corvette escorted the Bashkirta through Danish territorial waters. Khrushchev was expected to tour Denmark's farm areas, including the gram and dairylands of Funen Island south of Jutland.

Haekkerup said his government would give its views on such questions as Cyprus, where the United Nations peace force, and Germany.

3 Lawrence Alumni Honored For Distinguished Service

Graduates Recognized for Work in Educational Fields

Educators in the fields of drama, public secondary school and religion were honored by the Lawrence Alumni Association with distinguished service awards during commencement exercises Sunday afternoon at the college.

Miss Oleda Schrottky, a native of Appleton who pioneered the field of educational drama for the National Girl Scout organization, Mrs. Frank (Henrietta Hafemann) Miller, featured in the March 13 "Life" magazine article, "The Rewards of a Great Teacher," for her work at Senn High School in Chicago, and Dr. Erwin Shaver, Waltham, Mass., former executive director of weekend religious education for the National Council of Churches, were presented the bronze medallions by Henry Kimberly, Oshkosh, member of the association's board of directors.

Miss Schrottky's work has taken her throughout the United States and to many foreign countries, teaching youth leaders in organizations dedicated to giving girls and boys adventure in the arts, and broadening their understanding of the world in which they must live.

Advance Studies

A 1915 graduate of Lawrence, she did advance study at the University of Minnesota and New York University. She taught in Menominee High School and Mount Holyoke College, spending the summers with the Provincetown Players. Partially retired now and living in New York, she works almost full time speaking to civic groups, service clubs, women's clubs and colleges.

She holds an honorary degree from Lawrence, is a member of Delta Gamma Fraternity from which she has received the Rose Award, the highest recognition paid by the organization for work with young people. She is listed in "Who's Who in American Women."

Mrs. Miller is chairman of the department of social studies at Senn High School and pioneered the advanced placement program in the Chicago Public Schools, which allows able and ambitious students to take college level work for credit. She also started an elective course in international relations at the high school.

Other Awards

She received the Human Relations Award in 1952 from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the World Understanding Award in 1956 from the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the Freedom's Foundation Award in 1959. The Citizens Schools Committee of Chicago presented her with the Kate Marenton Dedicated Teacher citation last fall.

A 1925 graduate of Lawrence, Mrs. Miller received a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin and has done graduate study at the University of Chicago and the University of California, Berkeley, on a John Hay Fellowship. Dr. Charles R. Keller, former Williams College history professor, who heads the search for the nation's top educators for John Hay awards, declares that Mrs. Miller is just about the best teacher he has ever seen.

Dr. Shaver's vocation in religious education began when he took a graduate course in this subject at Lawrence in 1913-14, going on in the field at Garrett Theological School and Union Theological Seminary and Teacher's College, Columbia. In 1920 he joined the faculty of Hendrix College for a period of two years, teaching Bible and religious education, before becoming a staff member of the Congregational Education Society at Boston, serving as New England District secretary for four years and twenty years as secretary of leadership education.

'Shared Time'

In the early 1940's he joined the National Council of Churches in guiding the rapidly developing movement for week-day church schools on "released time." As an improvement and development of the "released time" concept, he put forward the principle of "shared time" and is credited as the pioneer in this newer movement.

He has been active in many religious and educational groups and has served as coordinator and consultant in cases brought before the U. S. Supreme Court involving the religious forces in the field of religion and education.

He retired from the National Council of Churches in 1957 and from then until July 1962 served as part-time consultant for the Massachusetts Council of Churches. His name has been listed in "Who's Who in America" for the past 35 years.

Topping a Group of 10 Men commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Air Force Reserve were two distinguished military graduates — Kenneth King, Madison, left; and Jon Keckonen, Appleton, shown being congratulated by President Curtis W. Tarr and Lt. Col. Carroll Newstrom. The commissioning took place prior to Lawrence College's 115th commencement.

Report From Camp McCoy

Friendly Enemies Set to Test Preparedness of Beefed-Up 32nd

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CAMP MCCOY—We are lying on the tree-capped rolling hills of Monroe County, beefed up and preparing for battle.

We will fight on the friendly (but sandy) soil of this multi-mile military reservation; and we will fight with friendly enemies to test whether our vicious nickname, Les Terribles, has been well-won. Military evaluators will gauge our might and effectiveness, and we will be graded with cold, grim justice, getting what we deserve.

The coming battle, one of a number of problems put to us by military tacticians, will test the months and years of training of the troops of the 32nd. Made up of many home town units who have trained and studied and perhaps learned some of the arts of war, the 32nd will be tested as will each of the various components which comprises it, including the one with which I am quartered, the 1st Battalion, 127th Infantry which is commanded by Lt. Col. John D. Shipley of Appleton.

We have been beefed up by replacements or "fillers" — troopers from as far away as the West coast of the U.S. — the 127th is under strength as is the entire division.

Short of Troops

Following the Berlin crisis which led to the activation of the 32nd at Fort Lewis, Wash., in October, 1961, the division's strength was brought to 13,500. Within three months after the division returned to home guard status, some 3,000 troopers did not re-enlist with the result that the famous division is now short of troops. About 825 non-32nd division troopers have been brought in as fillers to beef up the units.

However, some elements of the 32nd will not report here for the annual two-week encampment. Some 800 Guardsmen from Green Bay, Antigo, Wausau, Tomahawk, Medford, Merrill, Rhinelander and Eau Claire will take their summer encampment at Camp Ripley, Minn., August 15-29. It is the first time in five years that the elements of the 32nd division have been diverted elsewhere.

If the battle to come is a mock one as it is, indeed, there is nevertheless an atmosphere of a real encounter. Overhead, helicopters are seeking to scout our positions, our strength. Enemy aggressors are afield, too, and their intent is to "take" Camp McCoy as well as prisoners. The aggressor forces wear a wooden crest upon their helmet tops and though we outnumber them by about eight to one, they are more maneuverable than we — and know everything about us. Of them, we know nothing except that yesterday they were us.

Camp-Hardened

We sleep in tents and are camouflaged so that we are virtually undetectable from the air, but we have assurances that the aggressor is well aware of our every gun position as well as some of our plans.

We'll do our best though — if you are worried. Chances are that the good guys will win.

Last week's civilians are this week's tough, disciplined soldiers. There is something about the dust and the dirt and the need for order and efficiency which turns the city fellows into rather grim-looking, camp-hardened soldiers. It is good to see.

Before our departure for the field and bivouac, our troops trained and did their necessary housekeeping. Camp McCoy is unoccupied except for a small cadre which merely held the camp together. The barrack and the other buildings were unkempt and dusty and it was our job to get them quickly into good repair and usefulness. This has been done in a remarkably short time.

Training and Classes

Training went on a pace, too. Prior to bivouac, there were reconnaissance patrols in the battle area; there were classes in marksmanship and the operation of the big 106 mm recoilless rifles. Troops were engaged in the study and operation of the 4.2 inch mortars and in machine gunnery and manipulation.

The latter, under 2nd Lt. Ronald Mach of Kaukauna and conducted by Sgt. Tony Czarnik of Appleton, familiarized new men and refreshed seasoned ones in the manipulation and mechanics of the .30 calibre machine gun.

"Hold the lock frame in both hands," shouted Sgt. Czarnik, "and keep the claws of the accelerator in front of the T-lug on the barrel extension!"

Somewhat, everyone did — did this and other things which will prepare them for the defense of Camp McCoy and, I think, you and yours.

Are these civilian soldiers ready for the multitude of situations and problems which they will have to meet?

"They're very good," said 1st-Sgt. Robert Kranhold of Appleton, "and much better than you'd think possible."

Byrnes Scores 'Dangers' of Poverty Effort

Says Johnson Using Redevelopment Unit
For Political Gain

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Because of its multi-million dollar "political attractions," the Johnson Administration will make a second attempt to bring the once-defeated Area Redevelopment Administration bill to the House floor for a vote, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, predicted last week.

Tabbing the ARA as the "Administration Re-election Agency," Byrnes, who is chairman of the House GOP policy committee, charged this agency had overstated by 128 per cent the number of jobs its accelerated public works program would create.

"It was shocking to learn from a report written by the comptroller general how much the ARA has been exaggerating the number of jobs these projects would create," Byrnes said in an interview.

The comptroller general also reports the ARA had overstated by 83 per cent the number of jobs actually created by accelerated projects already in operation.

Noting that the administration's "anti-poverty" program already had been given the green light in a house committee and is scheduled for House consideration, the congressman said this billion dollar program has the same potentialities for political abuse as the ARA.

"Poverty Czar"
"This program would soon run to $5 billion or more, and would give the new 'poverty czar' almost limitless powers," Byrnes said. "An example of the dangers in this bill is its so-called work-training program."

"The 'Czar' could assign nearly a quarter million people to work for units of government or private non-profit organizations."

"The American taxpayer, under this program, would pay up to 90 per cent of the salary of each worker during the first year, and 50 per cent thereafter, except where he decided to increase the federal contribution to 100 per cent," Byrnes continued.

"Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, under questioning by Republican committee members, admitted the non-profit organizations participating in the work-training program could include political parties, chambers of commerce and labor unions."

Since some appointee of the president in power would have the decision on who gets this free labor, the possibilities obviously for abuse and political empire-building are enormous."

Transit Aid Money
Observing that another bill slated for early House consideration is one providing federal aid to metropolitan transit systems, Byrnes said under this bill, the "debt-ridden federal government would take over a major share of the responsibility for building rapid transit systems, which in the past has been a local or private responsibility."

"The federal government already is building sewers and utility buildings and other facilities, and it is now proposed that it provide free labor and take over the job of providing rapid transit systems," Byrnes complained.

"I wonder if the federal government will ask if local governments are really necessary and will take over everything itself?"

Old friends discussed old times as Lawrence College classes of former years held reunions at this year's commencement weekend.

Riverview Country Club was the setting for dinners and receptions for the classes of '39, '54 and '59 Saturday evening.

Members of the various groups had already greeted each other at the many events planned for alumni and their husbands and wives throughout the weekend. Among the affairs at which they visited were the Saturday afternoon President's Reception and Lawrence Concert Band program at the Union.

Avoid Parched Look With Body Basting Sontan Oils

Because of the heat and outdoor activities, most women find it more difficult to stay fresh and beautiful during the summer months.

For one thing, the sun dries the skin; and even if you limit your tan to a light shade—which you should—you still can have trouble with freckles or patches. For another, harsh sun can alter delicate hair shades.

Chances are you have your own summer beauty secrets. Compare them with these ten, which might be called the foundations of summer beauty:

Sun bathing a favorite sport? Always use your suntan lotion—remember that you baste a roast to keep it from drying out in the oven! It may sound funny, but the same kind of thing is happening to you.

You will be bathing more often—your skin can get parched and dried, an invitation to scaliness and wrinkles. Soothe it with bath oil.

Summer legs . . . smooth, tanned and sleek. Keep them sleek by shaving every day if necessary. Easy to do when you're bathing or showering.

Perspiration is an ever-present problem. Carry a pressed-powder deodorant in your bag—everywhere.

Don't go without lipstick when sunbathing. Your lips are delicate, and lipstick is good protection. Use one of the luscious, pale ones—natural beauty, and terribly flattering.

Most frequently seen hair-dos are short, but some top beauties let their hair grow long during the hot season. They wear it up, and then let it fall neat (on the ski slopes) winter.

Use Hat Or Scarf

If you tint your hair in any way, wear a scarf or hat when you are out in the sun. The bright sunlight will turn the delicate blonde shades brassy, and reddish brown or brunette colors.

Tinted toenails, in pale pink or coral, are devastating with a tan.

If heat, sunbathing or sunburn makes you feverish, overtired and headachy, lie down for a while with feet elevated and put a soft cloth, dampened with ice water, over your eyes. When you get up, splash yourself with refrigerator-chilled cologne. You'll feel great, even if it's 110 degrees in the shade!

And finally, you feel excess pounds more in the summer, so start thinking now about slimming down for next summer. Dieting is a serious business and should be done under the advice of a physician. Today's woman has so many special low-calorie foods and drinks to help her, that staying trim is mostly a matter of desire.

Burial Laws Different in Each State, Ann Learns

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was particularly interested in the letter from the young man who wanted to know what you thought about having his mother dug up because he heard from relatives that she had been buried in expensive jewelry.

My nephew had an experience which might throw some light on this subject. His young wife died suddenly. He was so grieved that he gave no thought to the wedding ring or the wrist watch she was wearing at the time of the accident. When she was laid out the wrist watch and wedding ring were on her hand. After the funeral the mortician handed my nephew an envelope and told him it contained his wife's jewelry. My nephew said, "I thought she was buried with it."

The mortician replied, "It is against the law to bury people in jewelry."

So, if a loved one is thought to be buried in jewelry perhaps it would be wise to check with the undertaker and find out what he did with it. — May Justice Be Done

Dear May: Each state has its own burial laws. My Illinois experts tell me there is no law in this state which prohibits burying a person in jewelry. In fact, a Chicago funeral director was buried recently wearing his diamond cufflinks because his wife requested that this be done.

DEAR ANN: I am almost out of my mind with worry. My husband and I (both 55) raised a lovely daughter. She was married eight years ago to a young man who seemed superb in every way. They now have three youngsters.

Last week my daughter sobbed out her story. She is at the breaking point. Her husband has been abusive to her from the start. He has had one affair after another and she has lost all love and respect for him. He refuses to get outside help and the poor girl is going to pieces.

She is not a complainer, Ann. I hadn't heard one word about her trouble until now.

God knows I don't want to interfere with her life but I can't bear to see her go on this way. Do I dare invite her and the children to come home? We live in a neighboring city. It would not be easy but we could manage.

I haven't said anything to my size. Don't expect to get the very same bra your friend wears. You are an individual and built differently than she is. Getting the right fit for you does not cost extra money but it will save you money because you will not be buying bras that are uncomfortable or that don't give you a good line. While you are still developing you should be fitted every three months. So don't buy too many bras at one time. Buy them more often instead. The correctly fitted bra will help you develop properly. (Copyright 1964)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the fifth grade English teacher at Stewart School in Cincinnati. As an experiment I read to my class the letter from your column about Jerry, who was put in charge when the teacher left the room.

Two of Jerry's best friends behaved badly. When the teacher returned she found the room in an uproar. Jerry reported his friends as the trouble-makers one week. The friends became angry with Jerry for "snitching." He wanted to know if he was in the right or not.

I am sending you the responses of my fifth-graders. As you can see every student agreed with your advice. Interesting? — E. R.

Dear E. R.: Very! I was further pleased to see that your fifth graders can also spell and put sentences together properly. Cheers for Stewart School in Cincinnati!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Hair Color Clues

Hair colorings have developed with such speed that use can be perplexing unless, of course, professional advice is at hand. To clear up confusion, here is a catalogue of current color products.

Temporary Colorings These shampoo out. Products take the form of liquid, powder and cream rinses, and also shampoos.

Lighteners Bleaches, used to remove natural hair color in preparations for a toner.

Toners Pale shades for permanently coloring pre-bleached hair.

Miscellaneous Hair-color sprays for temporary streaking and crayons for touch-ups.

With the exception of temporary colorings, all products require patch testing. Retouching or recoloring of permanent colors is mandatory as the hair grows out.

For 50 ways to look lovelier, send for my leaflet, "Instant Beauty Tips." It shows you how to overcome such annoyances as chipped polish, ragged lipline, straggly hair, and even stuck zippers also, how to create glamour fillips with make-up and accessories. All in the wink of an eyelash! For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 5 cents in coin.

MEASURING UP FOR THE RIGHT BRA

The sales girl will help you, as she has been specially trained to fit bras to all types of figures. She will first measure you over your slip to determine your band.

Q: We recently had a fire-place installed in the living room of our new home. We have had several fires in the fireplace and the mortar between the fire brick has begun to fall out. How can I replace the mortar? We had no trouble with the fire itself or the draft.

A: I suspect that the mason used ordinary cement mortar between the fire brick instead of using a fire-brick cement. If so, it will be necessary to rake out the old cement and replace with the usual fire-brick cement (available at masonry supplies dealers). It also may be that the joints between the bricks are more than one-eighth inch thick. If so, unless the brick is relaid, the cement will have to be replaced periodically. Better call back the mason who did the job! Better yet, a mason who knows his business.

Q: We have a heavy dining room rug around to spread the wear and tear on it. We discovered the table legs had left dents which show very conspicuously in the new position. How can we eliminate the dents?

A: Place sheets of plastic, or several layers of newspaper under the dented areas, to protect the floor underneath. With a steam iron, steam the dents well. Then straighten the nap with a clean, stiff brush or whiskbroom.

Q: I have an old wringer-type washer. The metal post which holds the agitator is breaking at the base. It is still partly tight, however. Can you tell me how to fix it without having it replaced?

Ceramic Removal Great Fun

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Could you tell me the best way to remove ceramic tile from a wooden floor? I am not attempting to salvage the tile. I intend to repair the wooden floor and lay new ceramic tile. My aim is to remove the tile and cement to get a clean surface on the boards.

A: What a lovely invitation to the destructive-minded! Just get out your cold chisel and mallet and enjoy yourself. Wear goggles. You can even paint your boss's face on the floor, if you are so inclined. The remainder of the dried adhesive can be smoothed with a rented floor sanding machine. Have fun!

PROBLEM BY DIVORCE

Dear Louise: After 22 years of marriage, I am beginning divorce proceedings. This may come as a surprise to many including my husband's relatives whom I adore. During this and afterwards, do you think it would be proper for me to continue seeing and writing them? I am certain that our friendship is strong enough but I don't want to step out of line. Please tell me what to do.

Louise Davis Answers:

I advise that you quietly bow out by saying, writing, doing nothing. Your husband's relatives will soon learn of the divorce proceedings. Blood may be thicker than water, but chances are that as long as there is a strong bond of real friendship, they will keep the door open by making the first move. Your silence would let them know that you are giving your husband the priority and from there on, they will either accept you as a real friend or they will indicate their allegiance to your husband who is entitled to first place.

CORRECT PRONUNCIATION

Dear Louise: A friend, when speaking of someone being in mourning, always pronounces the word as in merning. We have discussed it and she insists that she is correct. I wish to pronounce the word correctly and would appreciate your answer.

Louise Davis Answers:

Mourning is pronounced with the long o as in morning.

The trouble with medicine today is that it tastes too good. When I was a boy, I had to swallow cough medicine that would give a stone statue the collywobbles. It may not have cured my coughs, but it gave me the fortitude to become a good bridge player.

never lacked for anything. He took the king of hearts and made a face. He didn't like the dummy's good diamonds.

South made his contract with two overtricks, and East made a very rude noise. He was unhappy about losing three club tricks, and East was a man who let the world know when he was unhappy.

After Conversation

"Why didn't you lead a club instead of a diamond?" East asked.

"How could I lead away from the king-jack?" West countered. "It was too dangerous."

"Too dangerous!" East snorted. "I suppose it was safe to lead diamonds."

We can leave the conversation at this stage because we know just how it will end. Each player will say a few bright things, while the opponents beam cheerfully. Then East and West will go on and try to show each other up, losing a huge rubber in the process. Even if the contract cannot be defeated, it will be good for West's soul to nerve himself to do a dangerous thing.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: K 6 3 2; H 8; D A Q J 7 5; C 6 5 3. What do you do?

Answer: Bid three spades. The response is the same, regardless of whether or not there is an intervening bid.

Way of Life Sets Garb

Many women buy or make a wardrobe without giving any thought to their activities. Your wardrobe must be in keeping with your activities. It should be planned at least as intelligently as a grocery list. If you're on a budget, how much can you spend? As a new season approaches, do you weed out clothes you no longer want, before going on a shopping spree?

Do you itemize your needs before shopping for fabrics and patterns and then stick to them? Do you avoid going overboard on new fads that will look dated next year?

Do you buy good fabrics and accessories that give you a smaller but fine wardrobe, or do you have a huge motley assortment of cheaper clothes? Ask yourself these questions and if you've goofed in the past, consider them for the coming season.

If six new fashion colors are shown, all necessitating different accessories, don't choose one of each color. Select two or three dominating ones each season, plus basic black, grey and beige. You'll only need limited accessories for the various garments in the new shades and you'll be able to wear them with most of your basics. A set of black will take care of the rest.

Make clothes you will wear. Take three types of women and consider, seriously, if they could all do with the identical wardrobe. First, a career woman

Honor Last Year's Brides On Paper Anniversary

The official honeymoon is over for the 200,000 brides who said "I do" during June of 1963. By now last year's bride is a young wife, and the important event of her summer is a paper wedding anniversary.

Making that first anniversary as memorable as the wedding day it commemorates calls for a very special party. Paper is the keynote — informal, inexpensive and gay. Follow this theme in planning guest list, decorations and menu.

The guest list might be made up of the friends who were hosts or hostesses at pre-nuptial parties last year. Be sure to limit the list to a workable number.

Pretty paper table appointments and decorations set the party mood. Create a garden of smart this season. Don't load your closet with excess clothes. If you want to cheer yourself up by buying something silly now or then, fine; but don't make these whims the bulk of your wardrobe. Instead, make them the icing on the cake.

Three Historic Steps For Supreme Court

Voting in States a Field Avoided
By Justices Until Two Years Ago

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has now taken tentative steps toward the three historic steps in two years. In a field it had timely avoided: voting in the states. The court got biting criticism from other states since the total number for all three decisions, and higher of representatives for the praise. The country quickly adjusted to the first two and will, Every 10 years, after a century to the third. This is an ABC on sus, the number of representatives what happened and why, start-tives is reapportioned among the ing with the federal government states according to their population as background. In Congress each state under two senators, the number of representatives is entitled to representatives varies by state population doesn't count. It is different with the House of Representatives in the states, or was supposed to. In picking members of their legislatures.

Forty state constitutions required rearranging of their legislative districts every 10 years or so to provide their voters equal representations. But for generations some state legislatures ignored their constitutions. Examples: Tennessee and Alabama.

Rural Areas
At the beginning of the century rural areas dominated state legislatures. Then populations shifted from farms to cities, but there was no redistricting, rural areas were still in control and would do nothing to lose it.

An example of what this could mean. 10,000 people in one rural legislative district would have one state representative while 100,000 city people would also have only one. This meant one farmer's vote was equal to 10 city votes.

This meant unequal representation. But the rural - controlled legislatures would not change it. Appeals were made to the Supreme Court. It ducked saying it didn't want to get involved in politics. It said this last in 1946.

Tennessee Case
In 1962, in a Tennessee case, the court reversed itself and said federal courts would step in if necessary to order redistricting to provide citizens of a state more equal representation in legislatures.

It laid down a rule which has guided it since: one voter, one vote. Then on Feb. 17, 1964, the court went further, stepped into state arrangements for election of representatives to Congress from states' congressional districts.

I said congressional districts within a state must be based more truly than has been the practice on population. Monday the third step came when the court said state senators must also be elected on a population basis instead of by some old, fixed rule of state senatorial districts that gave unequal representation.

State Senators
How could the court say state senators must represent, more or less, equal number of a state's population when on the federal level each state is entitled to two U.S. senators, no matter how big or small it is, or its population?

Chief Justice Earl Warren, in a very lucid opinion, reasoned this way:

The federal system—two senators, regardless of population—was never intended to be a model for the states. This arrangement was the result of a compromise between large and small states when the country was created. The big states, with more

Bubolz Lists 5 Benefits of Marsh Vote

Gordon A. Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, Monday said Wisconsin Conservation Commission approval of state acquisition of the Mukwa marsh west of New London will produce five major benefits.

Bubolz said the benefits include:
— Preservation of the wetlands to hold water and distribute it more evenly throughout the year. He said the marsh also provides filtering action and is a supply for underground reservoirs.

— Larger numbers of waterfowl will be attracted to the marsh, because it will provide feeding, nesting and resting areas on the Mississippi flyway.
— A return of waterfowl and other wildlife species to the Mukwa area will add to its aesthetic value, improving hunting and making the area more scenic.

— A natural wildlife area will add to the marsh region's economic growth, because it will have new recreational advantages.

— The marsh will serve as a demonstration area to show what can be accomplished by proper wildlife and waterfowl management.

Thieves Net $77 Cash In King Bar Break-in

WAUPACA — The second break-in within a week at the Windmill Bar, King, netted thieves $77 in cash sometime after closing time Sunday.

Sheriff Loren Frazier, conducting an investigation of the break-in, said entry was gained through a rear window. It is believed only cash was taken from the bar. The bar also was broken into June 10, but nothing was reported missing, Sheriff Frazier said.

representatives, would have a larger voice in the House; but, to balance this off, every state was to have two senators.

But Warren said whereas each state is a so-called sovereign entity, the various subdivisions of a state can't be so considered. They are just subordinate instruments created by and within a state to carry out its functions.

He said the idea of equal representation in a state legislature for citizens would not mean much if it was equal in the House but unequal in the Senate since then one house could cancel out what the other wanted.

Factfinding Issues Still Not Decided

Appleton, Teamsters Disagree on What to Submit to Labor Expert

The city of Appleton and 75 unionized employees in the Department of Public Works. The city also takes the position that: —Lateral or down - grade moves (changing of work positions) currently have been made only at the request of the employee.

For several months the city and union have been unable to arrive at terms for a new agreement. Both parties asked for factfinding through the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB).

The factfinding hearing will be scheduled as soon as the city and union are able to agree on the issues involved.

City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich has sent the WERB factfinder, Atty. Philip Marshall of Milwaukee, a letter setting forth the city's comments to the 14 issues submitted by attorneys for Local 563.

Disagree on Recognition Expected to provide the fire-works is the city's position that it does not agree Local 563 should be recognized as the exclusive bargaining representative for all the employees in the street, sanitation, maintenance and sewerage divisions of the Department of Public Works.

The city has between 50 and 175 unionized employees in the Department of Public Works.

The city also takes the position that:

—Lateral or down - grade moves (changing of work positions) currently have been made only at the request of the employee.

—It does not believe a general wage increase for 1964 is warranted.

—There is an established grievance procedure which it feels to be adequate.

Vacations Adequate

—The present vacation policy is adequate with the recent addition of another week's vacation after 25 years, accrued one day per year after 20 years.

—It denies that it has an indefinite and undefined policy regarding temporary employees.

—Persons hired through an employment agency should be paid the rates of other temporary employees.

—Final resolution of all issues will be made by the city council.

There is speculation as to whether the city will agree to accept the findings of the fact-

New Ticketing Policy Likely

Outagamie Police May Cite Parked Cars in Winnebago

Outagamie County traffic police may begin ticketing cars parked illegally on the roadway in Winnebago County along the Winnebago - Outagamie county line road near a teen-age bar.

Parking cars on state or county roads with the tires on concrete is a violation of state traffic ordinances.

Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath has informed traffic authorities that such tickets may be issued, but the cases must be handled in Winnebago County traffic courts. Ponath said the tickets should be issued by county sheriff deputies rather than county traffic police.

Tickets Issued All county police working in the Outagamie County traffic department are authorized sheriff's deputies and may make such arrests.

Ponath was asked for a legal opinion after county police indicated that illegal parkers on the Winnebago County side of the Outagamie County Trunk Road were not being ticketed by Winnebago police who were called to the scene by the Outagamie County traffic police.

Outagamie patrolmen have been issuing "several dozen" tickets to illegally parked cars on the Outagamie County side of the road. The parkers, who have been made to appear in court, have been paying fines of $25 each.

Outagamie County police reported last week they were told by a Winnebago policeman at the beer bar that "it did no good" to distribute the parking tickets, because the ticket holders never appeared in court.

Capt. Ronald Decker of the Outagamie County Traffic patrol said Monday he did not know yet if the Outagamie County traffic patrol was ready to issue tickets on the Winnebago side of the road. Decker said and he had not requested the legal opinion and "it must have been someone else in my department."

The "Paddle Wheel Princess," miniature riverboat built in Appleton at the home of John W. Frost, 512 E. Parkway Blvd., made her operational debut Monday in the Fox River after being launched at Lutz Park. At the docks of the Appleton Yacht Club the Princess was loaded with water-filled drums to duplicate the weight of a full 21-passenger load. Checking the water line on the craft's hull with a full load are, from left, John Frost and Lt. Marvin Romen of Milwaukee, U. S. Coast Guard marine inspector. The Princess was given final approval for licensing after the check. (Post-Crescent Photo)

'Selling' U. S. Is Part of Job for Kaukauna Visitor in Foreign Post

Former Green Bay Man Now Serving As Minerals Attache in Australia

KAUKAUNA — One of this nation's "salesmen" abroad Monday completed a five - day visit in Kaukauna at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. S. J. Berens, 304 Klein St.

Burton E. Ashley, his wife and daughter Gwen, are visiting this country from Australia where he has spent the past three years with the Department of State as a minerals attache.

In speaking of his role in the American embassy in that nation, he stressed the importance of American personnel overseas selling this nation to others.

Started in 1950 He started his career with the state department in 1950 and was first assigned to Nyasaland, central Africa, where he remained for seven years. Ashley requested the African duty because he had visited that country in 1932 working for a private firm interested in geological studies.

A graduate of Green Bay East High School and the University of Wisconsin, Ashley did graduate work at the University of Minnesota from 1934 to 1936. He worked for two petroleum firms as a geologist and with the U. S. Bureau of Mines before his appointment as a minerals attache with the state department.

Other countries visited by Ashley include Northern Rhodesia, Israel, Brazil, Nepal and Libya. He feels the foreign service is ideal service for a geologist as it enables him to broaden his experiences.

Love to Travel A geologist must love to travel as visiting and studying foreign countries in person is much more rewarding and more fun than reading about other places in books, he said.

His wife, a former Army nurse, and their four children agree with him. The youngsters all plan on following some career which will enable them to travel, Ashley said.

His duties as minerals officer entails furnishing information to others in the mineral field of developments in mining industry and prospects of development. Of particular interest in Australia are the iron ore, aluminum and petroleum industries.

Aid Industrialists Considerable amount of American money is attracted to these industries, and it is his responsibility to help acquaint interested Americans in where to invest.

Differs With Commission

Appleton Unit Opposes Sick Leave for Fireman

The city's personnel committee took a dim view Monday toward granting 70 days sick leave to an Appleton fireman who intends to retire at the end of that period.

A recommendation to grant the leave with pay was made recently by the fire and police committee.

Committee members felt the action was precedent-setting and may be the cause of similar incidents developing in other municipal departments.

It was explained the fireman, who will be on vacation until June 21, has been assigned to light duty for the past 18 months because of a heart condition.

Light Duty The fireman's physician says he is able to perform light duty, such as answering the telephone and other clerical work as in the past.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl told another council committee recently the fireman has accumulated 70 days sick leave.

However, personnel committee members felt sick leave should not be taken just because it had not been used up, especially in view of the fact that the man intends to retire then.

Noting the fireman can perform light duty, the committee felt he should continue to do so until the retirement date.

Police Personnel However, the committee also took the position that fire and police personnel came under the jurisdiction of the commission.

"If they (Commission) want to do this, it is their sole responsibility," commented Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th).

The committee said it did not want to establish a precedent of giving an employee sick or emer-

Mitchell Tells Tomorrow's Leaders of Need for Planning

Pick Appleton Native for C of C Position

Louis Micheln Jr. New Assistant Chamber Secretary

An Appleton native will return to his hometown to serve as assistant secretary of its Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment of Louis J. Micheln Jr. to the assistant secretary post effective July 15 was announced today by the chamber. Micheln, who has been assistant manager of the Manitowoc Chamber of Commerce since 1958, will succeed Giles R. Flanagan.

Flanagan left the Appleton chamber this month to take the position of manager of the Manitowoc chamber.

Louis Micheln Jr.

He had worked for the Appleton chamber since 1957.

Micheln, 32, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Micheln Sr., 815 E. Washington St., Appleton. He attended the Appleton public schools and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1958.

He is married to the former Dorothy Micheln, a native of Kimberly. They have two children.

As assistant manager of the Manitowoc chamber, Micheln was secretary and coordinator for the retail, legislative, public relations, convention promotion and parking facilities committees. He also published the chamber's newsletter.

Part of his duties included acting as assistant manager of the chamber-owned Credit Information Bureau and as assistant secretary of the Manitowoc United Fund.

Promoted Building

Micheln also was a member of the Manitowoc County Committee for Higher Education which promoted the construction of a new building for the Manitowoc University Center.

He has been a member of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce Executives. He served on that organization's board of directors for one year.

The new Appleton assistant secretary is also a member of the Manitowoc County University of Wisconsin Alumni Association, Taxpayers Association, Musicians Association and the American Legion.

Five Trees Damaged

Five small trees valued at $75 have been damaged on a boulevard near the James Madison Junior High School, 2020 S. Carpenter, some time Monday. Police said the trees were broken off at the trunks.

Appleton Mayor Talks to 939 Youths at Badger Boys State

being units of government through what is known as regional planning commissions," Mitchell said.

He said Appleton, for example, belonged to the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, of Appleton told the mayors of Badger Boys State here Monday.

Mitchell was one of several elected officials from various parts of the state — and the only Wisconsin mayor — to address the 360 teen-age officials elected to offices in 30 mythical cities.

A record 939 youths from all parts of the Badger State are attending the weeklong lesson in government. County and state elections, and inauguration of the governor, is billed for tonight.

Gov. John Reynolds will lead the inaugural parade through downtown Ripon at 7 p.m.

"Recognition of Talents"

Several youths from the Fox Cities were elected to municipal posts in Monday's election, and others were on county and state tickets today.

"Your selection to Badger Boys State is a recognition of your potential talents and abilities," Mitchell told the high school juniors.

He said as leaders of their generation they would want to be identified with communities that are forward-looking and modern, with the best of educational facilities, a healthy economy, parks, good transportation facilities, along with having cultural, social and aesthetic values.

Touching on the mass exodus of people to the cities from rural areas, Mitchell said the village of today may be a city 10 years from now. He told of the requirements of public officials to run cities and described the structure of municipal government.

Long-Term Needs He cautioned that in developing a community, its long-term needs must be carefully planned and thought out.

Mitchell said the younger generation would have "a breath-taking responsibility," adding, "Just imagine what our cities and communities will look like with double the population, automobiles, schools and other facilities."

"This tremendous expansion of the cities has and will continue to create challenge for all segments of government — social, political, transportation, education, health, housing industry, commerce and others."

Mitchell said he could not overemphasize the need of helping communities plan and accomplish long-term needs. "One method is working with neighbors."

Make Recommendations Commissioners felt it would be wrong to grant rezoning requests for Newberry Street when planning consultants are in the process of studying the entire city and will eventually make recommendations.

In other action, the commission:

— Received a petition and heard arguments against rezoning property in the 2600 block of N. Richmond Street. A date for a public hearing is to be set.

— Asked the board of public works to negotiate further for the purchase of eight wooded lots adjoining Hoover Park. Commissioners felt the $14,000 asking price is too high.

— Approved the preliminary plat of Oak Ridge Gardens in the Town of Menasha. It is being developed by a corporation headed by Allen Bubolz.

Action Withdrawn — Received and concurred in a request to withdraw a rezoning action started several months ago by the Knoke Lumber Co.

— Confirmed with Jack Alston, director of the team of consultants who will be preparing Appleton's comprehensive plan over the next 18 months. He is with Harland Bartholomew & Associates of St. Louis.

— Referred to a public hearing, date to be set, a petition signed by 32 persons objecting to the vacation of one block of Durkee Street between Wisconsin Avenue and Summer Street. All are Durkee Street residents.

Menasha Council Completes Study For 'Condemnation'

MENASHA — City officials may be on the threshold of a program in Menasha which will require property owners of dilapidated buildings to either repair their properties or they will be ordered to tear them down.

City Atty. Richard Steffens outlined how such a program would work during a committee of the whole session Monday night.

His report followed a lengthy study by council of numerous dilapidated and aged buildings in the city, many of which have been deemed as unfit for human habitation or which are in need of gross repair before being suitable for human habitation. Recommendations were to raze several.

Steffens said, "In our last report to the council we spoke about the procedures of condemnation for street purposes. Because the council is considering another form of condemnation, namely razing and repair of buildings, it is my duty to inform the council as to the procedures involved in this. This is another form of condemnation but entirely different from that of condemnation of streets or condemnation of property for public purposes.

"In the main, if the building inspector or the common council finds that a residential dwelling is so old, dilapidated, or has become so out of repair as to be dangerous, unsafe, insanitary or otherwise unfit for human habitation (the supreme court recently said we can use the aesthetic test, too) so that it would be unreasonable to repair the same, the common council can order such building razed or the building inspector can on his own initiative.

Steffens pointed out two tests are in order to raze a building: The building inspector or common council must find the buildings dangerous, unsafe, insanitary or otherwise unfit for human habitation.

The cost of repair must exceed 50 per cent of the actual valuation.

Families 'Cram' Into Homes

Menasha Seeks Ways To Stop Slum Growth

MENASHA — City Atty. Richard Steffens, in a special report to council Monday night, outlined ways the city can possibly avoid potential slum areas. The suggestions were made after several aldermen allegedly became concerned that Negro families might move into the area and "cram" many people into one house, resulting in the establishment of slum areas.

However, Steffens pointed out his report was not directed at "the colored group," but directed at all substandard living.

His report was as follows: "With the passage of the so-called 'Civil Rights' law by the Congress of the United States, more and more municipalities are going to be faced with minority problems. This was brought out at the League of Municipalities Conference which I (Steffens) attended at Bailey's Harbor June 11 to 13.

"The city possesses no powers, of course, to prohibit housing to any group. Some of our officials took the position that it would be a good idea to limit the number of rooms per family. The city attorney's office is opposed to attacking the problem from this standpoint. Many of us are members of large families and we didn't have to worry about how many rooms were allotted per individual or the square footage of these rooms.

"If the council is giving serious thought to enacting an ordinance covering this problem, which certainly is not directed toward the colored group, but directed to all substandard living, I would suggest that an ordinance be more specific in spelling out the fact that it does not apply to rooming houses and religious orders.

overnight in the county jail and posted bond of $200 Monday morning.

See Need for Personnel Director

A group of Appleton officials agreed informally Monday on the need for a city personnel director.

The comments came from members of the council's personnel committee.

Appleton does not have an individual personnel file but eventually hopes to have one covering city employees.

There has been some discussion that duties of a personnel director be assumed by the finance department.

Some committee members said they also felt the city should adopt a centralized purchasing program.

They were informed that Finance Director Donald Hassler has started some phases of such a purchasing system.

The committee indicated it was in no position to deal with daily personnel problems that develop when there are several hundred persons employed by the City of Appleton.

It was cited that most industries and businesses have personnel directors, and that Appleton represented a $10 million a year "business".

Damage Exceeds $500 in Kimberly 2-Car Garage Fire

Five Directors Named to Head Ski Association

Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Group Reports $371 Excess in Budget

NEW LONDON — Four Appleton men and one from New London were elected to three-year terms on the board of directors of Mo-Ski-Tow Hill, Inc., at the organization's annual meeting Sunday at View Ridge Chalet east of here.

The new directors are Park Bruyette, Fred Heinemann, Jerome Kavaney and Robert Parnell, all of Appleton, and Ormond Capenor, New London.

The non-profit corporation, which numbered about 150 active members during the 1962-63 season, has grown to 435 active members since the beginning of the year it was announced. This included 163 family memberships, 141 single memberships and 131 junior memberships.

Club treasurer Vincent Derscheid, Appleton, said that despite the poor snow year the club received $3,968 and recorded expenses of $2,697 for a balance of $371. This is the first year since the corporation began operating a ski facility eight years ago that an excess was recorded.

Investment in the View Ridge facility, which was constructed during the summer of 1963, is $16,044. Investments include four ski runs, a double tow line, two beginners' tows, the chalet, hill lighting equipment and a Sno Cat. The project was financed by the corporation through the sale of promissory notes.

Victor Stracke, chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee, announced plans for the new, 12-lot View Ridge Subdivision on the south side of the property. Lots are approximately 215 feet by 222 feet in size, ranging in price from $650 to $1,000 each. An access road is being built into the subdivision from Outagamie County Trunk

S. George Kubisiak, Edward Macklin and John Costello, New London, and Stracke are handling the sale of the property. Because of lack of snow, the facility was in operation six times during the season. The 60 season tow ticket holders for the past season will be allowed a credit on their tickets, it was decided. For a $40 family ticket, a credit of $15 will be allowed, for a $25 single ticket, a credit of $10 will be allowed, and for a $12.50 junior ticket, a credit of $4.50 will be allowed. Season tickets may be purchased until Nov. 1.

Special work sessions are being scheduled for Saturday and Sunday and for July 1 and 2 to complete improvements on the hill.

This interchange of ideas and investments of American and Australian companies helps promote this country. American and Australian capital is very closely tied in these fields; the department of state helps in any way it can to make the relation stronger, he said.

Life in Australia is much the same as that in the United States, he said. His children attended state schools and returned to this country for college. Education in Australia, as in our nation, is booming, Ashley said.

After about a leave of two months in this country, he will return to his duties at Canberra, capital city of 75,000 people, located about 150 miles from the ocean midway between Melbourne and Sydney. He foresees the day when population of the city will be 250,000.

Ashley expects to spend four more years in government service before being forced to retire at the age of 60. There are about 50 Americans in the Australian embassy with a similar number of Australians hired to handle unclassified work.

He will return to his post in July after stopping at Los Angeles to participate in the World's Lawn Bowling tournament, a sport he learned in Australia.

Clintonville Asks CAB to Okay Findings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board was asked by Clintonville, Wis., Monday to approve an examiner's finding that the city should continue to receive airline service through its own airport.

Clintonville said it would be too costly and too inconvenient for its residents to depend on airports at Green Bay, Oshkosh or Appleton for fairline service, since all of them are an hour or more distant.

The South Wood County Airport Commission, representing five communities, asked the board to reverse an examiner's decision that central Wisconsin should be served through a new $2.5 million airport to be built near Mosinee.

Speaking for Port Edwards, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin Rapids, Biron and Nekeosa, Wis., the South Wood unit said the CAB should designate Alexander Field at Wisconsin Rapids as the airline airport to serve the communities.

hinder once the hearing is conducted and recommendations handed down. The union has agreed to do so.

Other Comments

Froehlich made other comments relating to the proposed issues for factfinding, pointing out the city already has written job specifications with each employee assigned to a specific job.

He also explained the city's wage plan was developed in cooperation with the State Bureau of Personnel and is up for review this fall.

Froehlich said the city already has increased from 50 to 60 per cent its portion of the employee insurance premium and also plans to hike hospitalization and surgical benefits.

The city, according to Froehlich, agrees that temporary employees might well be paid 10 cents per hour less than the step 1 rate as contended by the union.

He said that at its June 3 meeting, the common council reinstated the due checkoff but also wants that matter to be reviewed by the factfinder.

The council took its action after being slapped with an unfair labor practice by the union. The charge, it is expected, will be withdrawn.

KAUKAUNA — Daniel Auden, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Auden, 509 W. 9th St., received a bruised hip and elbow at 12:30 p.m. Saturday when the bicycle he was riding collided with the rear door of a car driven by Mrs. Ray Van Asten, as she drove south on Quinney Avenue.

According to police, Daniel was riding the sidewalk on the hill when he ran into the road and collided with the moving car.

He was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital in the police emergency vehicle for treatment and was released.

East Side, West Side — Everyone Gets Sidewalks

It took time and doing but there's going to be a new sidewalk in front of 925 W. Grant St. on Appleton's north-west side.

Construction of the 55-foot strip is expected to start in a few days after the city council gives expected final approval to the thorny project Wednesday night.

James Meiers, owner of the residence on Grant Street, had bucked the City of Appleton for more than a year — refusing to deed the strip for sidewalk purposes.

So, the city made the customary $1 offer for the property and instituted condemnation proceedings.

City Atty. Frederick Froehlich notified the council's street - sanitation committee Monday that all legal processes have been complied with by the city and it can now proceed to put in the walk.

A year ago Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) said the residence was the only one in the built up area without a sidewalk and requested it be put in. Meiers and the city went round and round with the council finally directing that legal action be started.

Once the walk is constructed, Meiers will be assessed the cost.

Because precedent was at stake, the city refused to make any kind of a "deal" with Meiers although all of the actions probably cost more than the sidewalk itself.

States Face Drastic Changes in Politics

Supreme Court Gives Opinion That Legislatures Represent People, Not Trees or Acres

WASHINGTON (AP) — Practically every state in the union faced today an explosive change in its lawmaking and politics which should eventually give city voters a more equal voice in their state governments.

The Supreme Court, arguing that "legislatures represent people, not trees or acres," decreed Monday that seats in both houses of every state legislature must be apportioned by population.

The decision held unconstitutional the division of representation in six states—Virginia, Maryland, New York, Delaware, Alabama and Colorado—but foreshadowed a similar holding in as many as 40 other states.

Swift Reaction

Reaction was swift and noisy—joy from urban leaders and outrage from state's righters and rural-dominated legislatures.

Both Republicans and Democrats, digging into voting and population charts, figured the decision would help them.

All agreed that rural residents who for generations have held a disproportionate share of voting power in most states, would be the losers.

The problem pondered in statehouses today was what to do. Special sessions of the legislatures may be needed in some cases. Fortunately the court gave time for planning and preparations. It ruled that action on the decision need not be taken before this year's general elections Nov. 3.

Maryland Case

But it noted that in Maryland's case it does not have a state election until 1966 and it added that "under no circumstances" should that election be conducted pursuant to the existing or any other unconstitutional plan.

In its decision, the court held unconstitutional the so-called "little federal" systems in which state legislatures are made up like the U.S. Congress with districts represented equally in one house and by population in the other.

This aspect of the ruling was called "utter nonsense" by Dr. William Prendergast, research director for the Republican National Committee.

Two Houses

"There's no sense in having two houses if they represent the same thing," he declared. "I trust they won't find the U.S. Senate unconstitutional."

Gov. John Connally of Texas, Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote the majority opinions in all six cases Monday.

Court Decisions

Many governors and legislative leaders took the view that the court's decisions were final and definite and the sooner they were complied with the better.

Johnson Wants To Talk About Cyprus Crisis

Turk and Greek Prime Ministers In U. S. Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington: WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will have talks next week with the prime ministers of Greece and Turkey on the Cyprus crisis.

Johnson announced Monday that George Papandreu, the Greek prime minister, had accepted his invitation to come here to discuss the savage dispute between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. He will be here June 24-25.

Turkey's prime minister, Ismet Inonu, had previously accepted Johnson's invitation. He is scheduled to arrive June 21 and begin talks the next day.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has denied allegations that American pilots are flying C-130 transport planes against rebels in the Kivi Province.

"No U.S. combat personnel are in the Congo, nor are any envisaged there," a State Department spokesman declared Monday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk briefed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday on the Southeast Asia crisis.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a critic of U.S. policy there, described the two-hour closed session as "bloody."

Morse told newsmen he cautioned Rusk that "you are headed straight for war with China. If that happens the world will hate us for 500 years."

Thompson Agrees With High Court

HONOLULU (AP) — Wisconsin Atty. Gen. George Thompson said Monday that he agreed in principle with the United States Supreme Court ruling that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Thompson, here for the state attorneys general annual meeting, was among those commenting on the decision.

Rocket Plane Goes For Ride in B-52

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A rejuvenated X15 rocket plane went for a high ride but didn't fly Monday.

The research craft never left its B52 mother ship in a test designed to check control systems which cannot be tested on the ground. The craft was modified after a crash landing in 1962 and is now designated as the X15A2.

Equipped with additional fuel tanks, the ship is designed to fly about 5,000 miles per hour—nearly 1,000 m.p.h. faster than the current X15 speed record.

LaCrosse Man to Seek Seat From Third District

LA CROSSE (AP)—Harold C. Ristow, a La Crosse insurance office manager, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for 3rd District congressman.

Ristow is a former Democratic chairman of the district, now represented by Republican Vernon Thomson of Richland Center.

"The people of the 3rd Congressional District of Wisconsin want and deserve a congressman who will help President Johnson, not hinder him," Ristow said. Thomson, a former governor of Wisconsin, has not yet declared himself a candidate for a third term.

1-Day Railroad Stoppage Ends By Court Order

Union Says Strike Was Called to 'Clear Conditions'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Trains were rolling again today as court orders ended a one-day strike against six midcontinent railroads.

An estimated 5,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen walked out early Monday, stopping traffic and freight-handling on the lines.

Railroad attorneys quickly obtained temporary restraining orders in U.S. district courts, banning strikes and picketing.

Union officials said the men were returning to work as the orders were served, but one official said the strike would resume when the restraining orders expire.

Hearings Set

Injunction hearings are set for late this week and next week.

The stoppage affected Tennessee, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Colorado.

The railroads are the Missouri Pacific, Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy), Texas & Pacific, the Texas and Louisiana lines of the Southern Pacific, the Texas - Mexican Railway, and the Houston Port Terminal Association Railroad.

Louis E. Corsi of Cleveland, public relations director for the union, said the strike was called to "clear up a lot of local conditions that have existed for years—rules, pay, work conditions, everything."

Alarm arose quickly in the wheat belt because the harvest is in full swing. Grain men had visions of new wheat piling up at country elevators and being dumped on the ground, subject to spoilage from rain.

Violated Order

Maynard E. Parks of St. Louis, Missouri Pacific vice president for personnel, said the strike violated a restraining order issued in Washington Sunday by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff, who set a hearing for June 22.

R. D. Jones, vice president of the brotherhood, who was directing the strike from Houston, said Judge Holtzoff's order applied only to the national matter of reducing the size of train crews.

Restraining orders were issued late Monday in U.S. District Courts by Judge James Meredith in St. Louis, Judge Marion S. Boyd in Memphis, Tenn., Judge Leo Brewster and Judge Joe Ingraham in Houston.

Brave Wives Venture Opinion on $7,500 Raise for Congressmen

BY JOY MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—By now you'd think congressional wives would have that $7,500 pay raise spent—at least in their minds.

Their spouses voted it for themselves last week, together with pay boosts for 1.7 million federal workers. The Senate is expected to go along.

An informal poll, though, has turned up the fact that here is an amazing group of wives who would rather not talk about money.

They're not sure how the voters back home are going to take it. The raise wouldn't be effective until next Jan. 3, and the husbands have to get re-elected in November.

A few brave wives ventured opinions.

It's Wonderful

Mrs. Bob Casey—he's D-Tex.—says candidly "I do think it's wonderful. I only hope people will understand how much it costs us to live, without too many frills, too."

The Caseys have 10 children, 6 at home. The others are married or at college.

"My husband was a county judge making $15,000 before he came to Washington six years ago. I remember thinking, 'My, his salary as a congressman—$22,500—will certainly make a difference.'"

"Well, it hasn't. You can't rent your house back in Houston for what you have to pay here. Houston was generally a much less expensive place to live."

Make Payments

What's the first thing the Caseys would do with their raise? "Pay off some of the notes we've been paying interest on," says Mrs. Casey.

The problem of maintaining two homes plagues most congressional families, along with constant travel to keep the constituency happy. Congressmen find that travel costs take mighty hunk out of the family paycheck.

Hugh Carey, D-N.Y., is a regular commuter home, where he tries to make ends meet by running his Brooklyn law office on Saturdays. His wife, who stays home in Brooklyn to care for the Carey brood, says cautiously "We haven't got the raise yet. Just say it will help out."

Mother Carey's chickens number 13, and range in age from 19 years to 3 months. "Oh yes," she adds, chuckling, "we'll find some use for the raise. You know, diapers, shoes, teeth straightened."

Votes Against

One congressman who voted against the raise was Garner E. Shriver, Republican from Wichita, Kan.

"We're from a district that might not understand," says his wife. "It's hard to explain the raise to people who don't make that much in a year."

But, adds Mrs. Shriver, mother of three, "anyone can use money."

Dorothy Kastenmeier, wife of the Democratic congressman from Watertown, Wis., says "For anyone a pay raise makes things a little easier."

The Kastenmeiers have three boys, ages 4½ to 4 months.

"With all children you can hand down clothes, but there isn't much left of a second set of patches," Mrs. Kastenmeier says.

"The raise would make the mortgage on the house here easier to meet. And just last week I started worrying about curtains in the Wisconsin place. It's always something."

Katharine St. George, R-N.Y., remains adamant.

"I opposed it," she says. "It's the wrong time. The country is in debt up to its eyebrows. The congressional salary, though, is the last objectionable thing in the whole bill."

She shrugs. "But I can use it, certainly, if I get it. Anybody can do that."

Former Detective Files Damage Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Former vice squad detective Joseph E. Niedzieko, 35, filed a $1 million damage suit in Circuit Court Monday against former Police Chief Howard O. Johnson.

Niedzieko was suspended for refusing to testify in the recent John Doe investigation and later was fired.

He said in the suit he was entitled to damages because of what he claimed were slanderous and libelous statements by Johnson.

State Is Probing Bogus Photographs

Staged Pictures Reported Damaging to Some Officials

MADISON (AP) — A John Doe investigation has been asked into a reported attempt to discredit state officials with compromising photographs staged to make it appear they had been engaged in improper conduct.

The reports said several Milwaukee area officials sought to obtain pictures that would be damaging to Gov. John W. Reynolds, persons in the attorney general's office and other state officials.

Dane County Dist. Atty. Michael B. Torphy Jr. said two prisoners were moved from the Milwaukee County Jail to Madison to appear today before Circuit Court Judge Norris E. Maloney at the start of the secret proceedings.

Torphy said a complaint seeking the John Doe probe was filed with his office Monday, but added he would have no statement on the investigation until meeting with Maloney today.

Reports said the Milwaukee area officials reportedly dealt with several ex-convicts in an effort to obtain the pictures.

Brought from Milwaukee to Madison were two men identified by Torphy as John Forbes and Earl Cassel, both 29.

Forbes was sentenced Monday to five years in the state reformatory on a burglary charge. The sentence will run concurrently with a three-year sentence in a federal prison for participation in a $300,000 mail theft.

Forbes has been sentenced to seven years on the mail theft count and is awaiting sentence on the burglary charge.

Laird Says Nominee Must Adhere to Party Platform

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Platform Committee, said Monday night the party's presidential nominee will have to adhere to the platform, even if it means a change of position for him.

Laird told newsmen the platform would be framed before the party's nominee is chosen at GOP national convention next month.

"The platform," Laird said, "but a Republican platform." He said it would be one that every Republican can support.

Asked to comment on Sen. Barry Goldwater's suggestion that the platform contain 250 words, and the proposal by former President Eisenhower that it run 3,000 words, Laird said, "I don't want to get tied up in a word count. I reject both suggestions."

The 100 platform committee members—two from each state—will meet here the week of July 6. The committee will hear reports from Republican leaders before presenting the platform to the convention July 14.

Fox Cities Soap Box Derby Champion Bernard Bos sits in his Pierce Auto Body Works-sponsored racer as he holds the checkered flag and the winner's plaque while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bos, look on. Bernard won a $500 savings bond and an all-expense paid trip to the All-American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, for himself and his parents.

Only Heavy Cars Can Win

Fox Cities' Derby Winner Has Excellent Chance in Akron Race

The Fox Cities chances for B, didn't let the fact that his left the hill alone just after his having a winner in the All-arm was in a cast bother championship race.

American Soap Box Derby in him. He, cast and racer went Akron Aug. 15 seem to have been on to win the Class B champion-Kathy Christianson: "Oh, (with some qualms about the matter) help. Now I have to kiss him."

Miss Appleton Leeann Siedschlag (with confidence and assurance): "When you are my other hazardous or delightful, age, you'll say, 'Good, I get to depending on your age, it would appear from this conversation recorded as the crowd waited for Bernard Bos to come down offices.

Bernard apparently disproved the theory that a heavy car can't win a Fox Cities Soap Box Derby because it is slowed down by the soft blacktop street which serves as the track.

His fastest time trial time of 23.4 was set in the morning when a bright sun had heated up College Avenue. He was clocked at 23.8 in the championship heat, raced after an hour and a half of cool breezes blew over the site.

According to derby officials, only heavy cars can win at Akron because there a concrete track is used. There, the heavier cars have a good advantage.

The "long arm of the law" just wasn't long enough in the 21 Can Derby run during the Soap Box Derby. Police Chief Earl Wolf made a vain attempt to stop Fire Chief Roland Kuehl from beating him by reaching his arm out to "apprehend" the chief. He missed, and lost.

Speaking of policemen, one traffic patrolman, who shall remain nameless, didn't seem to have much faith in his superior, Police Capt. John Gosch. Just before Gosch's race against Fire Capt. Russell Luebber, the patrolman yelled out, "Come on, Gosch. Win something in your life."

His boss did.

More than one driver took advantage of his sponsor and/or car number to add a bit of humor in his decoration of his racer. Car number 54, sponsored by the Appleton Police Association, was aptly titled, "Car 54. Where Are You?", while the Appleton Pharmacy-sponsored vehicle was called, "The Pill-Roller."

Jaycees worked from 5 to 11:30 p.m. constructing the 100-foot long, 16-foot high ramp that served to give the initial motion to the cars. They had about a foot and a half to spare on the north side where the covered sidewalk around Aid Association for Lutherans' project is located.

Work on the ramp went along quite a bit better this year, the Jaycees said. Basing their schedule on last year's experience, the workers were able to prefabricate many more sections before bringing them to the College Avenue site.

At a public event such as Sunday's Soap Box Derby, you expect the constant rumble of the crowd. Yet, the derby has one noise which distinguishes it from all other events — the constant hum of spinning wheels.

The drivers spin the wheels while waiting for their heats because, so they say, it helps to smooth out any imperfections in the ball bearings of their wheels.

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell, despite help from the Jaycees, lost again to the Sheboygan Special. This makes the 15th time in six outings against he Sheboygan racer. He is scheduled to try again at the Sheboygan Derby in July.

The boys went to any extreme to make their cars go faster. Some even taped the sleeves and neck openings of their official derby T-shirts because, so they said, the flapping of the shirts meant wind resistance.

Forced Tribute

Tipping Today Means Less Unpleasantness

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is the custom of tipping.

There was a time when the giving of a tip was simply a gracious gesture to reward good service. That was when the word tip was supposed to mean "to insure promptness."

Today a more likely meaning is "to insure survival." If you don't tip, you don't get anything done. You are subject to sabotage. The tip today is often not a bounty but a kind of forced tribute, a bribe to avoid unpleasantness.

Tipping has become a field of such importance that the government should consider regulating it, to bring some kind of order out of the present chaos. Whom to tip?

Formerly one generally tipped only waiters, bellhops, shoe-shine boys and maybe the barber. You could go for days or even weeks without tipping anyone at all.

Those simple days are long gone.

Now at times the world seems a forest of outstretched waiting palms. You tip the janitor, the mailman, the window washer, the television repairman, the fortune teller, the theater ticket broker, the grocery boy, your hospital nurse, your favorite bartender, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker.

A safe rule of thumb to follow, in fact, is to tip everybody you come into contact with except your boss, employees of the Internal Revenue Service, generals in the Army or Air Force and admirals.

How much to tip?

This problem worries more people than the international crisis. A 10 per cent tip on a restaurant bill used to be completely satisfactory. Then it crept up to 15 per cent. Now some waiters will spill soup down your back unless they feel you're good for 20 per cent.

Those in the know say that the most generous tippers are professional comedians and racetrack winners.

The poorest tippers are supposed to be baseball players, South or Midwest, who are said to tip only on the second of the Wednesday of any week.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

DO ONLY "BAD" PEOPLE HATE? YES ☐ NO ☐

No, we say in answer to a question by a reader. Jesus was killed, not by vicious criminals, but by the religious leaders of his day. Men tend to hate those who frustrate or thwart them. No one is hated more than the noble person who makes demands upon other people. Sometimes "good" people hate those who cause them anxiety or otherwise threaten them. Hatred, like most sins, exists in all men — good or bad. Prove this further by reading our popular booklet, "How to Manage Your Feelings and Emotions." Send 25 cents and a stamped, return envelope to this column, care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

The shy child needs understanding. The complex problem of timidity in children is explored frankly and completely in the booklet, "The Shy Child." Send 25 cents for each copy, along with your name and address, to: "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

Portable Transistor Radio For Father's Day

The most important consideration in choosing a vacation is money!

True — False —

False. In a study of some 4,500 students, Prof. M. J. Rosenberg found that what was most wanted was a chance to use their special abilities. Next in importance was a job with a future. Actually, money ranked not first, but sixth, out of ten considerations. Most college students, at least, are looking for a life, rather than merely a living. It is more important that work be satisfying than that it pay well.

Don't condemn the shy child.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a and uninhibited dancing; acting pleasure to report two attractions which the family can attend without boring the adults: "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "The World of Henry Orient."

Debbie's Talent

"Molly" is the second of Meredith Willson's sunshiny musicals to be filmed and the first to be improved in the movie version.

"Music Man" somehow lost its small-town flavor as a film. But "Molly," with its rhapsodies to frontier life, was a natural for movies, and the MGM treatment is big-wide, sun-splashed landscapes; open-throated singing

Bernstein to Lecture on Jazz Sunday

Leonard Bernstein, permanent conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, will musically illustrate and explain the development of jazz on "The People Sing" at 2:05 p.m. Sunday on WAPL Radio, 1570.

The program, produced by CBS Television Productions, is the second in a three-part series, "The Folk Music of the American Negro—Where It Has Been—Where It Is Going." Bernstein uses recordings of early jazz traditionalists and modern jazz performances to illustrate how the tonal patterns of the Negro voice were adapted to instruments and gradually developed into today's modern and progressive jazz.

To You: Good Health

Contact Dermatitis Cause Hard to Trace

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is contact dermatitis? Does it mean that you are allergic to something you touch? — M. K. S.

The "derma" part of the word means skin; the "itis" means inflammation. So dermatitis means some sort of skin disease.

It may be a rash, an itch, a swelling. Poison ivy is a case of dermatitis. Some sort of germ, fungus or what not can also cause skin trouble. Dandruff is dermatitis of the scalp. And so on.

There are many things that can bother the skin. Some people are allergic to pollen in the air. They are sensitive to it, and their noses run, their eyes water, they sneeze, because they breathe particles of pollen from plants.

Others eat a certain food to which they happen to be sensitive, and their stomachs rebel, or they break out with hives, or a rash, and that's a "food allergy."

But it is also possible for people to be allergic (or overly sensitive) to things they touch. This is contact dermatitis. The skin becomes irritated where the substance touches the skin.

Some Hard to Trace Hay fever can be quite easy to recognize. So can some other allergies. But some are very hard to recognize. This includes — in spasms! — the contact allergies.

Because, you see, the skin doesn't necessarily break out at the first touch. It can take quite a long time, perhaps weeks or more, before there has been enough contact so that the trouble becomes noticeable.

I'll give you a few classic examples: A man whose finger tips became red and sore; it was traced, finally, to sensitivity to nickels. He usually had some nickels in the pocket where he kept his loose change.

Soap or detergents, usually safe enough, bother some people after continued exposure. There was a stenographer who was allergic to carbon paper, and another who was allergic to lipstick. A woman was allergic to a contact dermatitis from some chemical used in manufacturing her girdle. Another got sore spots on her hands because of the paint on her broom handle.

So that's contact dermatitis. While often it is easy to figure out what is causing the trouble, other times it is very difficult, because the most innocent things, once in a while, can be trouble makers.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, who is 25, has had diabetes for 15 years. After reading a health article, he has been taking hundreds of milligrams of Vitamin C when he feels "a cold coming on." I fear the excessive quantities will be hard on his kidneys. What amount would be right? — I. G.

The recommended amount for an adult is 75 milligrams a day.

Vitamin C has several known functions: Preventing scurvy, aiding the healing of wounds, making strong bone and tooth structures, preventing the capillaries (tiny blood vessels) from becoming fragile.

There have been other claims made for it, but without a ny proof. Some people insist that it prevents colds, others that it retards hay fever, etc. I don't know of any evidence to make me think these things are really so, but I'm open to being convinced if anybody can give me facts rather than opinions.

However, no harm results from excessive amounts since the kidneys readily eliminate Vitamin C. It's a waste of money, though, to take more than you need or can use.

Note to Mrs. B.N.: No, you don't need a doctor's prescription to purchase a 10 to 25 percent solution of aluminum chloride to control perspiration. Just get it at your drugstore. You can buy the aluminum chloride and make your own solution, of course.

For facts about the total health of you and each member of your family, Dr. Joseph G. Molner's new book, "Stay Well Every Year Of Your Life," ($5.95) is now available at your book store.

Merely "Shrinking" Hemorrhoids is Not Enough!

Read how a clinically proven formula now brings more complete, longer lasting relief!

If you suffer from hemorrhoids, you have probably discovered that products which promise to "shrink" hemorrhoids do not always give prolonged relief. For, as doctors know, merely "shrinking" may not relieve discomfort.

That's why an advanced formula from Mentholatum Laboratories—M.P.O.—answers the need for a more complete home treatment of hemorrhoids. With more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the leading hemorrhoid preparation, M.P.O. not only works to (1) shrink swollen areas, (2) reduce itching and (3) relieve pain, but also provides three important extra benefits:

First, M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption of its relieving ingredients.

Second, M.P.O. fights infectious bacteria with the proven germ killer, Hexachlorophene.

Third, M.P.O. assures longer lasting relief through an exclusive stabilized base which prolongs the contact of soothing medication with the inflamed tissue.

Get M.P.O., sold without prescription at all drug counters.

M.P.O. is available in stainless ointment or suppository form.

Colts Extend Cards' Loss String to 5

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Sag apparently is contagious.

Jack Spring and Lou Brock caught it only a few innings after they joined their new Cardinal teammates Monday night.

The Sag also struck Glen Hobbie, another recent acquisition, as the Cardinals dropped a 9-3 decision to Houston for their fifth straight defeat and 17th in the last 23 games.

Spring and Brock, obtained in a six-player deal with the Chicago Cubs earlier in the day, arrived in the third inning of the Houston contest with the Cardinals winning 1-0. They barely had time to try on their new uniforms when they were thrust into action.

Spring was called upon to pitch in the seventh inning after the Colts scored four runs off Hobbie in the sixth for a 4-3 lead. The 31-year-old left-hander proceeded to give up four more runs, three of them unearned, one on a wild pitch.

Brock Struck Out
Brock, an outfielder who figures prominently in St. Louis plans, batted for Spring in the eighth and struck out.

In his first two starts for the Cardinals, Hobbie allowed two earned runs and eight hits in 16 innings. The Colts, however, belted him solidly.

St. Louis, considered a prime contender for the National League pennant before the season started, began its tailspin May 23. At that time, the Cardinals were in third place, one game out of first.

Two five-game and one four-game losing streaks later, they are in eighth place, seven games from the top and only one-half length ahead of the Colts.

Only three other games were played Monday. San Francisco snipped Cincinnati 6-5 in the other NL game while Chicago blasted Baltimore 9-1 and Washington edged Los Angeles 3-2 in the American.

Rain washed out Minnesota at Cleveland.

Aspromonte Homers
Walt Bond drove in four runs with two singles, getting one each against Hobbie and Spring. Hobbie also was the victim of Bob Aspromonte's two-run homer.

Twins Swap Stange For Cleveland's Grant; Broglio, Brock Shifted

Cardinals, Cubs Involved in 6-Player Deal

BY MIKE RATHET

The Minnesota Twins, acting quickly just before the clock struck midnight, have tapped veteran right-hander Jim (Mudcat) Grant to play a Cinderella role in the American League pennant chase.

Balked in earlier attempts to bolster their pitching staff, the Twins completed an 11th-hour deal with Cleveland Monday just before the midnight trading deadline, acquiring Grant in exchange for pitcher Lee Stange, a player to be named later and an undisclosed amount of cash.

In a major six-player deal between National League clubs, St. Louis sent former 20-game winner Ernie Broglio, reliever Bobby Shantz and outfielder Doug Clemens to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder Lou Brock and pitchers Jack Spring and Paul Toth.

Two minor moves were made—Baltimore selling outfielder Joe Gaines to Houston and Pittsburgh taking pitcher Don Cardwell off the disabled list after sending pitcher Fred Green to the minors.

The Twins have been considered legitimate AL pennant contenders, but it was generally felt they needed more pitching strength. They had pursued Dean Chance of Los Angeles but were unwilling to break up their power trust by sending Bob Allison to the Angels.

Hit Hard
Grant, 28, had been hit hard this season, starting nine games and completing only one. He had a 3-4 record with a 5.95 earned run average, but is an established major league starter of known quality with a 64-59 lifetime record entering this season. He was 13-14 last year.

Stange, a promising right-hander in his fourth season in the majors, impressed last year with a 12-5 record and a 2.62 ERA. This season, however, he had a 3-6 mark with a 4.73 ERA.

Grant figures to take his place with Camilo Pascual, Jim Kaat, Jim Roland and Dick Stigman in the Twins' starting rotation.

The key men in the St. Louis-Chicago trade were Broglio and Brock, who fills the Cardinals' need for additional outfielding help.

Broglio, a 28-year-old right-hander, apparently became surplus when the Cardinals acquired pitcher Glen Hobbie from the Cubs in an earlier trade. Broglio was 21-9 in 1960 and had an 18-8 record last year, but was 3-5 this season with a 3.53 ERA.

Brock, a speedy 24-year-old flycatcher who bats left-handed, is in his fourth season in the majors. He hit .258 last season with nine homers and 37 runs batted in. He was hitting at a .257 clip for the Cubs with two homers and 14 runs driven in.

Alou Changes Stance, Raises Average to .259

Spahn Duels Drysdale in Tonight's Game

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Braves Felipe Alou has changed his batting stance and is beginning to hit, but Joe Torre isn't attacking the ball the way he was earlier in the month.

However, Torre continues to lead the club with his .317 batting average, 10 home runs and 38 runs batted in. Alou, who has boosted his average to .259, has a half dozen homers and is second in runs driven in with 30.

As the Braves were idle Monday, Manager Bobby Bragan said, "Torre isn't attacking the ball the way he did a few weeks ago." The catcher-first baseman has slipped into a slump, going without a hit in his last 12 trips and showing only two hits in his last 27 appearances at the plate.

But Bragan isn't worried yet. "We couldn't expect Torre to hit like he did for awhile, but he is a better than in the last week or so."

Alou, obtained in the winter from the San Francisco Giants to add some punch to the lineup, was hitting only .211 at the end of April and .238 when May passed by. His averaged dipped to .226 before he began to come to life.

It started with a change in batting stance 10 days ago. "I opened my stance a few inches," Alou explained. "Dixie Walker (Braves' batting coach) told me to try it and it's been paying off. I used the same stance and had a lot of success with that until the last part of last season."

Alou said he thinks he began to hit with the old authority on June 6 in a game with the Chicago Cubs.

"I didn't get a hit," he said, "but I hit a couple of balls real good. The next day I pinch hit and hit the ball good again, and the night after that I got two hits."

In the week that he has been in the lineup regularly, he has added 33 points to his batting average.

As the Braves return to action tonight, seeking their fifth straight victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, Warren Spahn, 54, will oppose Don Drysdale, 35.

Larry Jansen's Son Signs With Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Giants announced Monday they had signed pitcher Dale Jansen, son of their pitching coach, Larry Jansen.

The 22-year-old right-hander, who pitched for the University of Oregon and was signed on his graduation, was assigned to Twin Falls, Idaho, of the Pioneer League.

Larry Jansen was a star pitcher with the Giants and joined the coaching staff in 1961.

Foxes Divide Pair With C-Sox, Stay 4½ Games Behind

9-Run Third Inning Enables Fox Cities to Win Nightcap

CLINTON, Ia.—The Clinton C-Sox retained their 4½-game lead over the runnerup Fox Cities Foxes as the two teams divided a twin bill in the Midwest League here Monday night.

Clinton took the first game, 4-1, and the Foxes came back for a 11-2 win in the second contest.

Curt Mielke, of Clinton, held the Foxes to three hits while chalking up his third mound decision without a loss in the first game.

The lone run for the Foxes came without the aid of a base hit in the first inning. John Sepich walked, went to third on an infield error and scored on an infield out.

Hitless Until Fifth
Mielke hurled hitless ball until losing pitcher Steve Caria slapped an opposite-field single with 2-out in the fifth. The only other hits were singles by Fred Rico in the sixth and John Burrows in the seventh. No Foxes' runner got beyond second base after the first inning.

Clinton scored a pair in the third when Stan Jaciuk tripled after Dan Adams had singled. Jaciuk scored when the relay from the outfield went wild. The C-Sox added two more in the sixth on a pair of singles, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly.

In the second game, the Foxes scored 11 runs, but only three were earned. Clinton went through a nightmare third inning in which the Foxes counted nine times.

Sepich opened the inning by striking out, but the catcher dropped the ball and when he tried to throw Sepich out at first, the ball went into right field. John Matias walked and Dave May sacrificed the runners to second and third.

2 Runs Score
A passed ball allowed Sepich to score from third and when the catcher retrieved the ball at striding out, but the catcher dropped the ball and when he tried to throw Sepich out at first, the ball went into right field. John Matias walked and Dave May sacrificed the runners to second and third.

Nameless Ontario Lake Yields Brook Trout Up to 4½ Pounds

BY JIM HARP

RANGER LAKE, Ont.—When the first brook trout hit there were two snaps against the tip of the spinning rod that felt like a good-sized northern slamming into a daredevil.

I tried to set the hook, but felt no response on the end of the line. When I reeled in, the trout had stripped the hook completely bare of two fat night-crawlers which I had been trolling behind a pair of over-sized copper spinners.

Charlie, our Indian guide, suggested that the next time one hits I give a little slack to the line and let him get the hook good. It didn't take long for the next brookie to make up his mind about the nightcrawler. This time I was ready and after a scrapping battle which saw the fish peel off line several times, Charlie slipped the net under a fat 2-pounder.

Remote Lake

We were fishing a remote little lake in the central part of eastern Ontario, about 65 miles northeast of Sault Ste. Marie. Our party of six was located at a Ranger Lake outpost camp op-point and Stan Walters tapped a grounder to short which looked like a sure double play. The throw to second went into right field and all three base runners scored. Ted Richardson singled to put runners at second and third and Walters scored on a wild pitch. After Hawkins grounded out, Sepich walked and John Matias capped the inning by slamming a 350-foot homer to right.

Clinton scored a pair in the sixth to spoil Hawkins' bid for a shutout. The Foxes hurler had to leave the game in the sixth when he jammed a finger on his pitching hand while taking a relay throw.

Mets' McMillan Sidelined by Ankle Injury

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Shortstop Roy McMillan of the New York Mets suffered a partial torn ligament of the left ankle and needed six stitches in a cut on the right shin after sliding home in the fourth inning of the first game of a Sunday doubleheader against Philadelphia.

Mets' trainer Gus Mauch said McMillan would be out of the line-up at least a week after the shortstop was treated at Temple University Hospital. McMillan was injured as he tried to score from first base on a double by Galen Cisco. McMillan was out on the play. McMillan recently acquired from the Milwaukee Braves, has been credited with solidifying the Mets' infield, which has improved the team's over-all performance in the past few weeks.

erated by Linn Winkleman who also operates Driftwood Lodge at Ranger Lake itself.

Our group included Post-Crescent photographer Ed Deschler, Charlie Holler, Bob Mancl and Bud Page, all of Appleton; Jim Peerenboom, of Little Chute, and the writer.

It was Monday morning and a bright, beautiful clear day. It was a welcome sight to see the sun after being stranded nearly all day at the Soo when our plane was grounded until late in the afternoon because of low clouds and fog off Lake Superior.

We had an early breakfast Monday morning and the guides loaded pack sacks with our gear and enough food for lunch. We started out from the outpost camp in the canoes and went a good six to eight miles by water before reaching what was to be the first of three portages.

First Portage

The first portage took about 15 to 20 minutes and we reloaded the canoes and started fishing on a small lake. Action was slow and we found even the trout in hard-to-get-at lakes are not always hungry.

The guides decided we would move to another lake and guaranteed there would be action there. The next portage we made was a short one and we crossed a small pond. Then we loaded the packs on our backs and set off through the woods again.

When the lake came into view through the trees we could see that it was just a small one, but it provided some lively action. No sooner had we started out when Peerenboom picked up a nice brook trout in the 2½-pound class. We then proceeded to have some fast action and it took some tricky maneuvering of the bait to prevent the trout from stripping the hook clean without hooking the fish.

We kept both big and small trout on this lake because the guides said the small ones that were hooked bad would die anyway and they would make mighty tasty morsels on the table.

Stop For Lunch

After two hours of rapid action the guides pulled up to a small island and we had lunch. We portaged back from the lake and stopped to fish a small pond.

Photographer Deschler was begging for some action on big fish and the guides promised that this spot would provide it. They were right.

Moving about this small nameless lake we picked up some of the heftiest brook trout we had ever dropped our eyes on. The trout weren't real fussy either. I caught some on crawlers, Peerenboom took two and had several other good hits while casting a Swedish Pimple and Deschler caught two dandies on a Rapala plug.

Top Catch of Day

When we got back to camp we had almost 30 trout ranging from several 10 inches that had been hooked bad to a beautiful 4-pounder caught by Page. Bud was in second heaven as he proudly weighed the fish—the top catch of the day.

Monday night's talk around the lantern light was all about the action. Mancl and Holler with their guide George Agiwa had fished a different lake than the rest of us and had equally exciting stories to tell of the action there.

While we were re-living the events of the day, the weatherman was brewing up something for Tuesday and Tuesday night that we did not know about, but were long to remember.

TRINOVID BINOCULARS

Creators of the world-famous Leica camera have perfected a new prism system that dramatically reduces binocular size and weight. It's the first truly significant binocular advancement in fifty years. The Trinovid 6x24 panoramic 685-foot-wide viewing field at 1000 yards is an amazing 40% larger than conventional models. The 8x32 and even the 10x40 are more compact than conventional glasses of much lower power. And all Trinovid models have fast-action central focusing, are hermetically sealed, dustproof and absolutely waterproof.

Scranton Presses Drive; Rockefeller Gives Him Support

Hopes to Keep Goldwater From First Ballot Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton moved his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination onto firmer ground today with the full support of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But the Pennsylvania governor, carrying the flag of Republican moderates, plainly had a lot of running to do to catch up with Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

The expected addition of 56 Texas delegate votes today would give Goldwater 674 publicly committed on the first ballot, 19 more than the 655 needed for the nomination. He expects to get 14 more from Montana this week.

Scranton's task is to whittle away enough of this support to prevent any choice on the first count-down at the mid-July convention in San Francisco. He can accomplish this only if favorite son delegations come over to him or stand pat.

Could Prevent Stampede

Rockefeller's announcement in New York Monday that he had decided the best way to continue his fight "for the basic principles of progress and moderation" in the party was to give his full support to Scranton, put a needed foundation under the Pennsylvania governor's crusade.

In the view of some seasoned politicians it would act psychologically to stem any stampede to Goldwater by injecting an element of doubt that he had the nomination in the bag.

It was not immediately clear how many of the 125 votes credited to Rockefeller in an Associated Press survey could be added to the 125 listed for Scranton, nor whether this could be done on the first ballot.

Predicts Open Convention

Scranton voiced the belief in a speech to Iowa delegates in Des Moines Monday night that "it is clear by now that this is going to be an open convention."

"We have already caused the coronation to be called off," he said in reference to the prospect that Goldwater would go to the convention with an unchallenged lead.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., a candidate for re-election who has viewed the Goldwater rush toward the nomination with something akin to dismay, said in a statement that Rockefeller's announcement "boosts Governor Scranton's chances from the barely possible to the very hopeful."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., another

Propaganda Push In Southeast Asia Favored by Ike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has called for an intense propaganda program in Southeast Asia and a "unity of view" between the United States and the South Vietnamese people.

Speaking Monday at a "party to people forum" sponsored by the Republican National Committee, Eisenhower said the war in South Viet Nam cannot be won "until we get morale in Viet Nam."

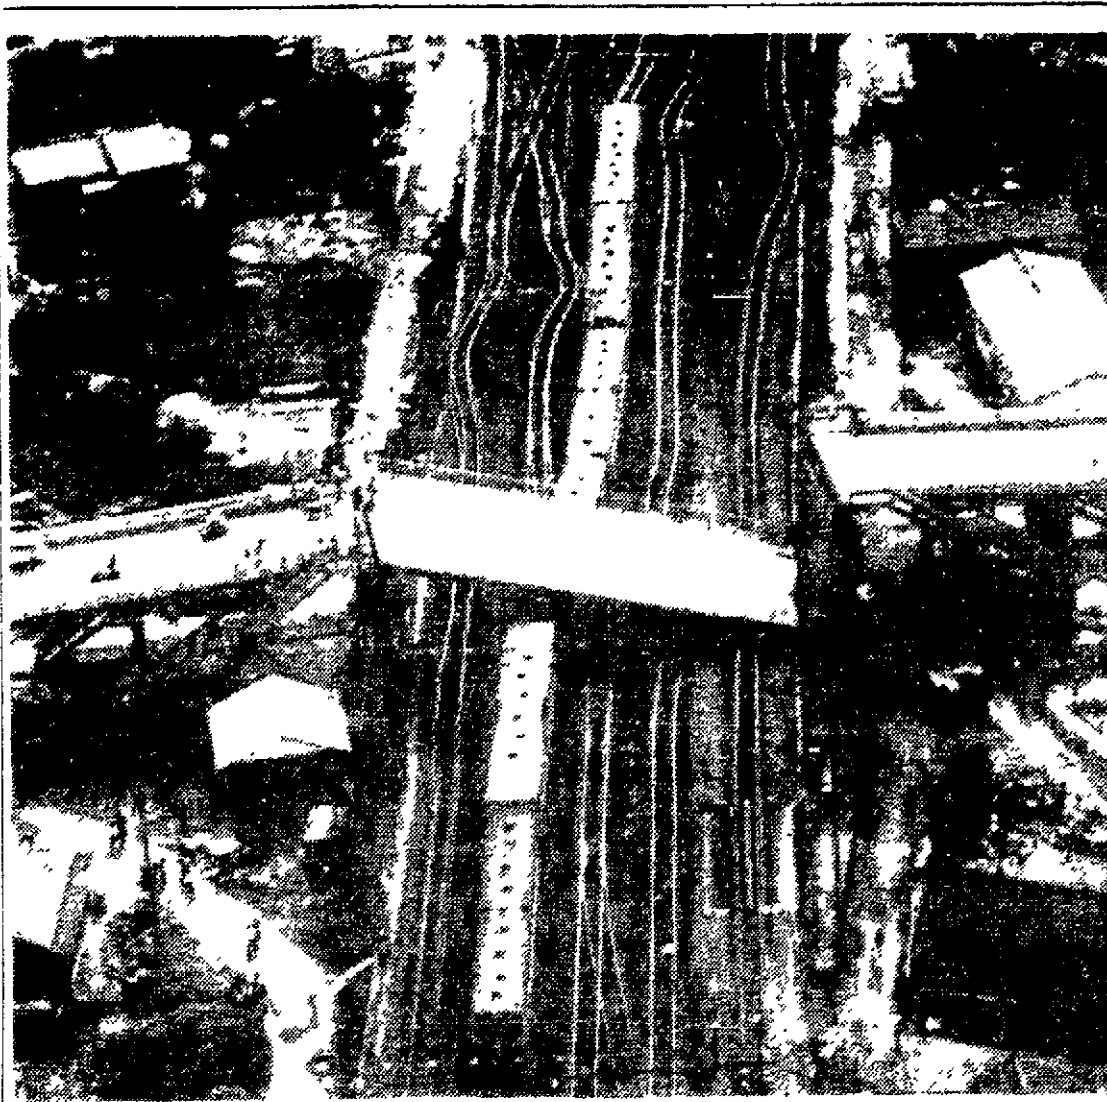

"We must inform these people. They must understand the advantage to get on our side," he said.

"When we get into any nation with turmoil and force is to be used from the outside, we must make certain of unity of view. There must be morale based on a clear understanding of fact."

Eisenhower told an audience of more than 1,000 that many parents in under-Vietnam do not know what freedom is. He said at times face. Firemen dragged for 20 whole villages surrender at the sight of a few Communists.

The forum was the last in a series of six designed to guide the platform committee at the national convention in San Francisco.

Heavy Damage as Quake Hits City in Northern Japan

Vehicular Bridge Across Railroad tracks was left lying on tracks—the tracks themselves oddly twisted—following earthquake today in the industrial city of Niigata in northern Japan. (AP Wirephoto)

Temblor Is Held Worst Since 1923

BY JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A tremendous earthquake set off fires and caused millions of dollars in damage today to Niigata, major port city in northern Japan. Eight persons were killed, two were missing and 108 injured by the quake that jolted the city for 2½ minutes.

Police listed the over-all toll in the stricken northern Japan area including Niigata at 21 dead, 2 missing and 129 injured.

City's Third Disaster

It was the third disaster to strike Niigata in two decades. The important industrial-commercial city of 290,000 was destroyed by a U.S. air raid in the closing days of World War II. The city was rebuilt, only to be leveled by a fire in October, 1955.

The temblor — strongest in Japan since the catastrophic quake of 1923 wiped out Tokyo and Yokohama—hit a vast area of the main Japanese island of Honshu at 1:01 p.m.

Fragmentary Reports

Sending a massive ground wave through 10 northern prefectures with a total population of 15 million, it left behind a trail of dead and suffering, flaming industrial installations, broken highways and railways and ugly fissures in the countryside.

Word from Niigata remained fragmentary tonight. But an emergency telecast from the stricken city showed blazing oil tanks, a destroyed bridge and an eight-story hospital tilting on its shattered foundation.

Explosions could be heard in the background as the pictures flashed on screens in Tokyo.

Water Shortage

Shortage of water made it impossible to fight flames from burning oil tanks. There was

Bus Runs Into Lake Off Broken Bridge

2 Heavy Barges Crash Into Causeway; 6 Passengers Die

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A town on the northern shore of Lake Pontchartrain, La., reached the world's longest bridge before the gap shortly after the bus fell.

The bus plunged over the edge into Lake Pontchartrain, killing six passengers.

Divers recovered some of the bodies from the bus, submerged in about 15 feet of the brackish water. A Coast Guard helicopter rescued one man and plucked another body from the lake.

Driver Survives

The bus driver was one of two survivors. Five bodies were recovered. One body was trapped in the bus wreckage.

The heavy barges, one loaded with gravel and the other with a big dredge, knocked down about 200 feet of the causeway—a low bridge resembling a highway on stilts.

The causeway extends 24 miles from New Orleans north across the lake. Cause of the collision was not immediately determined.

The identity of the dead was not immediately learned.

Causeway Jammed

The bus driver, Ernest Vaughn of Jackson, Miss., was reported in critical condition at a New Orleans hospital.

The barges, pushed by the towboat Rebel Jr., jammed the causeway about eight miles from the New Orleans end.

John Lambert, chairman of the Greater New Orleans Expressway Commission, said the causeway will be reopened to traffic in about 10 days, if weather conditions permit.

Jackie Church, 19, of Mandeville, La., was killed.

Probe Begun Into Alleged Sale of Babies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee opened hearings today on the sale of infants for adoption and heard testimony that children are sold for as high as $7,500 on the baby black market.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency, began the hearings with a statement that there desine trade in babies, both interstate and from foreign countries.

Under study is legislation that would provide imprisonment of up to five years or a $10,000 fine or both "for anyone who profited from the placement of a child for adoption if the child were transported in interstate or foreign commerce." The sanction would not apply to legitimate welfare agencies.

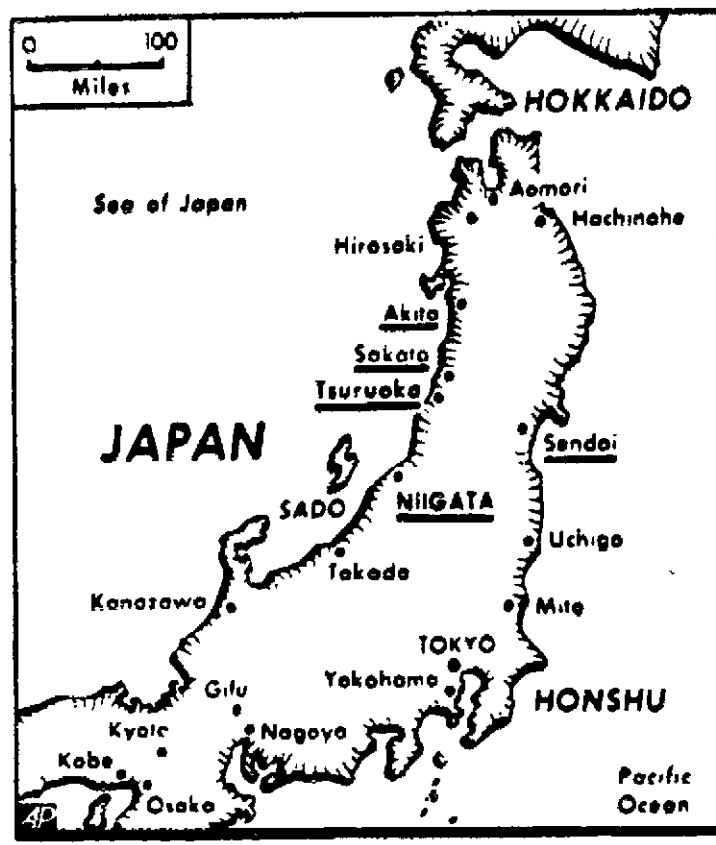

Witnesses for the first of two days of hearing included Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Welfare, and Theresa L. Heath of the New York City Police Department, assigned to the district attorney's office squad.

General Has High Praise for 32nd Division

CAMP MCCOY (AP)—An inspecting general said Monday that Wisconsin's 32nd Division "is the best qualified National Guard division I have ever seen," and could move "instantly" into action if needed.

Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Moses, deputy Fifth Army commander, inspected the Red Arrow division on its first full day of field training in its two-week summer program.

Moses also said he would like to see the 32nd upgraded in the nation's defense program. Following its release from active duty at Ft. Lewis, Wash., during the Berlin crisis, the division was reduced from a "ready" unit to one of "reinforcement."

Ready units are regarded as for about 1½ hours before being fit for combat 30 days after being called up. Reinforcement divisions required additional training, and such units may be broken up to fill gaps in other organizations.

At present, only six of the nation's 27 National Guard divisions are in the ready reserve value.

"I would like to see the 32nd given a higher priority," Moses said. He credited the experience gained at Ft. Lewis for the present state of readiness.

Lumber Firm Shed Burns at Seymour

Spectacular Blaze Seen 25 Miles Away; Sparks Believed Cause

Flames believed to have been visible in Shawano, some 25 miles away. The company is owned by Elmer and Harold Krahn.

The spectacular blaze, which sent flames and black smoke towering hundreds of feet into the air, was started about 10 a.m. In the brief span of 10 minutes the entire roof of the 40-foot, was ablaze, witnesses said.

Seymour and Black Creek fire departments battled the blaze for about 1½ hours before bringing it under control. At noon they were still pouring water on the charred remains. The building was partially filled with lumber up to fill gaps in other buildings.

No Estimates

There have been no estimates on the loss in supplies or their value.

Some welding was being performed in the building, and it was believed at first sparks from the operation were the origin of the fire.

Firemen managed to save the company's office, a nearby cabinet shop and other storage sheds in the building complex.

Propane gas tanks stored at the rear of the burning structure endangered fire fighters. They also managed to keep the flames from spreading to a nearby oil storage tank.

Woman Tells Police About Gunman Hiding In Automobile Trunk

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—It looked suspicious to a woman passerby in the bank parking lot.

Nikita Given Friendly Reception But Few Cheers in Danish Visit

BY RONALD THOMSON

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Premier Khrushchev arrived in Copenhagen today at the start of a three-week visit to Scandinavia and received a friendly but low-keyed reception from thin crowds of Danes.

The lack of luster atmosphere was in striking contrast to the boisterous crowds which howled enthusiasm for Khrushchev on his recent visit to Egypt.

Ship Movements Halted

The Soviet liner, Bashkirtseva, with Khrushchev and his party aboard slid smoothly into its pier. Premier Jens Otto Krag, Foreign Minister Per Hækkerup and other high Danish officials welcomed the visitors.

All ship movements in the harbor—one of the world's busiest—were halted for Khrushchev's arrival. The tightest security precautions in Denmark since World War II went into effect for the Soviet leaders' five-day visit.

Four thousand police, many of whom were imported from the provinces and agricultural products and was interested in importing a variety of products, including oil.

A Danish frigate and a corvette escorted the Bashkirtseva through Danish territorial waters. Khrushchev was expected to tour Denmark's farm areas, including the grain and dairy lands of Funen Island south of Jutland.

Haekkerup said his government would give its views on such questions as Cyprus, where Danish troops are serving on the United Nations peace force.

Won't Discuss NATO

"We agree with the general attitude of the Western powers," he said. Haekkerup said his government had no intention of discussing with Khrushchev Denmark's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Fire Put Out Aboard Yacht

Coast Guard Helps 3 Members of Armour Family

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP) — Coast guardsmen, answering a "May day" distress call, put out an engine room fire aboard a yacht in Lake Michigan Monday carrying three members of the Armour meat packing family of Chicago.

The 68-foot yacht Cyrena was towed to port here with her passengers and three crew members. No injuries were reported.

Aboard were Philip D. Armour Jr., 46, great-grandson of the Armour Company founder; his wife, Julia, and their daughter, Sandra, 18.

The Coast Guard said the group was on the way to Les Cheneaux Islands of upper Lake Huron. The yacht was close to shore because of heavy seas and the crew had planned to bring her to port, the guard said.

Chief boatswain's mate Royce Fulcher of the Coast Guard lifeboat station here boarded the Cyrena with other guardsmen and put out the fire. The engine room and crew quarters were reported damaged.

"The Coast Guard was there in two or three minutes," said Armour. "They doused the fire with foam and water. Fortunately no one was hurt."

"I doff my hat to the Coast Guard. They were marvelous."

Fond du Lac Boy Drowns in River

FOND DU LAC (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Tom Christus drowned in the Fond du Lac River Monday while he and several companions were swimming under a railroad bridge.

The boys told police they were pretending that they were Army frogmen planting dynamite under the bridge. Tom apparently was caught in under-tow and pulled beneath the surface. Firemen dragged for 20 minutes before locating the body.

Tom was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Christus of Fond du Lac.

Admits Car Had Faulty Brakes

Waupaca Man Faces Trial for Accident In Which Child Died

WAUPACA — Ralph H. Larson, 23, route 4, driver of the car which Sunday struck and killed 9-year-old Allen Barrington, denied a charge of driving too fast for conditions but admitted operating a car with faulty brakes. He appeared Monday before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Larson told the court he would deny the too fast for conditions charge until he could consult with his father. Trial date was set for June 24 and bond was set at $500. Larson, unable to post bond, was returned to the Waupaca County jail where he has been held since the accident.

Larson was fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty to operating a car with faulty brakes. Sheriff Loren Frazier said after checking the car it was found only one brake was working.

The board of public works is expected to submit a recommendation on bids for cutting and trimming city owned Elm trees which are affected by Dutch Elm Disease. A recommendation by the board of public works to reject all bids was tabled until tonight. Between council meetings a state forester checked the trees in question and has prepared a report which will be presented tonight.

In his inspection, Mayor Lloyd E. Matheson said, the forester found trees were affected with diseases other than Dutch Elm. The forester also commented some of the trees already trimmed have been "butchered" and were not trimmed properly.

Nemerov Notes Attitudes of 'Sense', Poetry and Science

Poet Gives Main Address at Lawrence's Graduation Rites

"Common sense tells you to neglect the exceptional and live within the known world. But art and science are one in the injunction to look first, only, always at the exception, at what doesn't fit."

That was the conclusion drawn by poet Howard Nemerov in Lawrence College's 115th commencement address Sunday afternoon, when he discussed the topic of exceptions and the exceptional.

The artist, Nemerov said, contends that exceptions "will turn into the universal while you look," while the scientist feels that exceptions "will show you the way to a universal not yet known."

Stating that commenters should deal in wisdom, Nemerov chose the proverb "The exception proves the rule" to examine from three standpoints—from the view of common sense, from the standpoint of the poet and of the scientist.

The common sense view of the proverb is that "the exception shows that the rule is right, and in that way is said to prove the rule," the speaker explained.

"As the proverb speaks with the voice of authority, so the sense of its somewhat complacent morality is that it is a rule-cerned with keeping the status quo; no trifling discrepancy, it seems to say, is going to change my idea of the world," Nemerov said.

The poetic form of the proverb asserts that the exception proves to be the rule, for the poet deals with the unique. He chooses unique facts and happenings to become illustrative of general or even universal propositions.

"I found this out," Nemerov recounted, "as a sort of inexpensive revelation that came to me when I was nearly run over by an ambulance; picking myself up out of the snow I said: Metaphor is an exception caught becoming a rule. For to be ever nearly run over by an ambulance is a strikingly exceptional occurrence, and yet it may be applied accurately enough to the dual nature of civilization, always ready with instruments of compassion once the victim has been made helpless."

"Alternately, the figure may be applied to the situation of the accused, who under our law has the right to be deemed innocent until he is proved guilty; but this right has no actual existence until someone has deemed him guilty by arresting him."

Concluding his poetic examination of the proverb, Nemerov observed that exceptions, or strikingly unique phenomena, express to us something of what we admit metaphorically applies to the conditions of our life—"a unique image is asserted as a general rule about the relation between imagination and reality"

A scientist, looking at the proverb, interprets the word "proves" as "tries out" or "tests." If the exception cannot be brought under the rule Nemerov paraphrased the scientist's viewpoint, so much the worse for the rule. "And yet the scientist in formulating his hypothesis is not behaving so very differently from the poet in making his metaphor, though the rules and procedures for proving are very different indeed," he related.

What were once thought to be irregularities of nature have been codified into new natural laws, the poet contended. "For example, electricity in the 18th century was just an exception, good for such parlor amusements as picking up bits of paper on a comb statically charged."

"Slips of the tongue, dreams, jokes . . . have revealed the existence of a huge realm of the world which before had been suspected only in the passing speculations of poets, and the strange stories of tradition and religion, the sinister or grotesque images shaped by painters; and it is not too much to say that the world has been as thoroughly transformed by the investigations of Freud as by the development of electricity."

Nemerov was given the honorarium of humane letters at the conclusion of the speech.

Annexation Up For Review At New London

First Reading to Bring Clubhouse Into City Expected

NEW LONDON — The first reading of a resolution to annex the VFW Clubhouse property to the city is expected to be read at tonight's city council meeting.

The planning commission Monday night voted to present a recommendation that the property be temporarily zoned as business.

An appeal for annexation of the property from the Town of Horton to New London was presented to the planning commission March 30. Action was tabled at that time. According to the law if no action is taken by the commission the matter can be brought to the council floor.

The petition was brought before the council at the last regular meeting when the council voted to accept the petition for annexation.

Liquor License

Reason for the haste in annexing the property is to enable the organization to apply for a liquor license. The club is not going to apply for a club license but will seek a regular city liquor license, it was stated at Monday night's council committee meeting.

Hog House, Shed Destroyed by Fire

WAUPACA — A small hog house and a small shed were destroyed by fire at the Chet Wedge farm, five miles south of here on Waupaca County Trunk E. at 1:17 p.m. Saturday.

When firemen arrived at the farm, the fire already had destroyed the two buildings and had started a grass fire. Before firemen could bring the grass fire under control, about four acres were burned over. There was no estimate of the loss.

Chilton Well-Drilling Continually Hampered By Limestone Problem

Drillers Asking for Additional Funds; Hole Sealed at 180 Feet

CHILTON — Water and well drilling problems continue to plague city officials. The new well being developed is filling in with decomposed limestone.

The well has been drilled to 180 feet and sealed. It was thought the fine powder-like material could be eliminated by sealing the well at 88 feet and again between the 130 and 142-foot levels.

Another deposit of the troublesome material was encountered at the 165-foot level.

Drillers now are asking for an additional $6,000 to develop the well. The original bid was $8,891.

Gravel Filter

If the additional expenditure is approved, drillers will attempt to place a screen surrounded by a gravel filter in an attempt to avoid the limestone.

Originally it was planned to sink a 24-inch casing to 80 feet, then place an 18-inch casing inside and lower that pipe to 89 feet. A 12-inch casing would be used then to develop the well.

The 12-inch casing has been lowered to 137-feet and limestone continues to enter the well.

A test hole had been drilled 10 feet to the east of the present site, which is located about 100 feet southeast of the Pennsylvania and E. Main street pumping station.

Escaping the Deposit

Utilities Commissioner Vincent Reinkeber said at the time it was thought that by the moving the deposit.

False Alarm at Fremont

FREMONT — Radiator trouble which a smoother stroke might be mistaken for a car fire brought the Fremont Volunteer Fire Department out on a false alarm Monday.

The department was called at 11 a.m. when the radiator solution in a station wagon boiled over onto the motor and windshield.

The vehicle was stopped on U.S. 10 in the village.

Board of Education Authorizes Move but Action Hinges on Okay At June 29 Annual Meeting

CHILTON — The school board Monday night in a special session voted to sell its fleet of 11 buses.

The school district attorney, Robert Lutz, ruled that the sale hinges on approval of the move by the district's voters at a special meeting scheduled June 29. Lutz told the board members that they did not have the authority to sell the buses but the district does. The board, however, has authority to enter into a contract with a common carrier for the transportation of the school pupils, he said.

No Bids Necessary

If the board does enter into such a contract, the buses will no longer be needed.

Bidding on the sale of buses is not required, if the move is approved by the district, Lutz said. The board can act if it feels a fair price has been offered.

The only offer thus far has been received from Leander Daun, who operated the buses during the past year.

Lightening the administrative load on the district was cited as the reason behind the move. G. G. Bloomer, board president, said after last year's experience of not having to control student transportation, the board wished to remain out of the "transportation business."

The district's buses last year were leased to Daun after the State Department of Public Instruction had ordered the district to discontinue transportation of parochial school pupils. During the special session the board retained the services of Hedrich Construction Co., Chilton, to landscape the Schink property recently acquired by the district for the extension of the playground.

Eldred Hedrich, president of the firm, told the board it would cost between $4,200 and $4,600 for the work. He said about 500 yards of earth would have to be moved in order to level off the land which lies directly southwest of the present playground.

The original purchase price of property was $2,200.

See Need for Personnel Director

A group of Appleton officials agreed informally Monday on the need for a city personnel director.

The comments came from members of the council's personnel committee.

Appleton does not have an individual personnel file but eventually hopes to have one covering city employees.

There has been some discussion that duties of a personnel director be assumed by the finance department.

Some committee members said they also felt the city should adopt a centralized purchasing program.

They were informed that Finance Director Donald Hassler has started some phases of such a purchasing system.

The committee indicated it was in no position to deal with daily personnel problems that develop when there are several hundred persons employed by the City of Appleton.

It was cited that most industries and businesses have personnel directors, and that Appleton represented a $10 million a year "business."

United Airline officials said the pilot was ordered by Federal Aviation authorities in Chicago to land at Rockford, where fire equipment stood by. The warning light was first sighted 10 miles west of Rockford.

Car Equipped With Bullet-Proof Dome

WASHINGTON (AP) — The limousine in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, rebuilt and equipped with bullet-resistant glass, has been made available for President Johnson.

There is no present indication how soon Johnson will use the Lincoln Continental, which now weighs more than five tons, including 1,600 pounds of steel plating.

Because of the added weight from the eight-pane-thick glass and heavy steel plating, the horse power has been stepped up from 275 to 500. The car has puncture-proof tires.

Like all cars assigned to the White House, the Lincoln Continental is leased, not owned. The Secret Service pays $500 a year for using it.

Auto Damage Suit Testimony Begins

Driver Says Appleton Ambulance Service Liable for His Injuries

Testimony in a $47,000 auto damage suit against an Appleton ambulance service and its insurance carrier opened today in 10th Circuit Court District.

Kenneth Kumbalek, 24, a Two Rivers truck driver, and the Truck Insurance Exchange, is seeking to recover up to $47,000 from Larry Seidl of Larry's Ambulance Service and the Milwaukee Auto Insurance Co., the ambulance firm's carrier.

Kumbalek has charged he was injured when his truck rolled over in a ditch after he had driven his truck onto the shoulder to make way for an ambulance with its red light and siren sounding behind him.

The truck driver further of town on the date the incident occurred, said that two of his ambulances were sent to a two-car accident near Midway Road on the indicated date.

Picked up Victims Linzmeyer then testified that he picked up two victims of the accident also and went to St. Elizabeth Hospital. On the way, he saw an ambulance belonging to the Larry's Ambulance Service going to the accident.

At the hospital, Linzmeyer said he was sent back to pick up Kumbalek. While on the way to the second accident, Linzmeyer testified he did not see any other emergency vehicles on the road.

Linzmeyer testified, however, that as he left the hospital to go on the second call, he saw a Larry's Ambulance, with Larry Seidl seated in the driver's seat, parked near the ambulance entrance of the hospital.

Clintonville Asks CAB to Okay Findings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board was asked by Clintonville, Wis., Monday to approve an examiner's finding that the city should continue to receive airline service through its own airport.

Clintonville said it would be too costly and too inconvenient for its residents to depend on airports at Green Bay, Oshkosh or Appleton for airline service, since all of them are an hour or more distant.

The South Wood County Airport Commission, representing five communities, asked the board to reverse an examiner's decision that central Wisconsin should be served through a new $2.5 million airport to be built near Mosinee.

Speaking for Port Edwards, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin Rapids, Biron and Nekeosha, Wis., the South Wood unit said the CAB should designate Alexander Field at Wisconsin Rapids as the airline airport to serve the communities.

India and Democracy

Critics of the late Prime Minister Nehru have pointed out that he did not arrange for a successor or even permit any other Indian leader enough authority to be considered as the likely follower. But the unanimous choice of Lal Bahadur Shastri and the absence of chaos in a chaotic land indicate that Nehru may have left India something far greater and more enduring than one successor. The next few months may tell the tale.

India's social, economic and religious traditions and castes are so different from the West that it is difficult for any of us to understand the immensity of the problems. The majority of the people live in villages and their allegiances are usually to those villages and to the various sects to which they belong. There are hundreds of dialects and many people in India literally do not understand each other's language. Their poverty is beyond our imagination. Their religious fanaticism has led to the most horrible massacres and a general unconcern toward misery and suffering. They are easily aroused to hysteria, and superstitions abound.

And yet into this confusion Nehru managed to install a democratic Parliament, a civil service and a relatively corruption-free police force, an army that has shown no inclination to take over the country and a secular state. Whether or not a government built in the image of Western democracy can survive among a people so different from Anglo-Saxons may well be determined in India.

At this point in India's history, there is considerable hope that it can work. The peaceful transition of authority after Nehru's death was one big step. Shastri was unanimously elected. But the new Prime Minister has tremendous problems to face. The most serious is the continuing unstable economy with ever-creeping inflation and the population growing faster than economic gains. India lacks capital and this can be more of a threat to the nation than even the Red Chinese on the border or the dispute over the Kashmir.

Shastri's next biggest problem probably will be his political enemies, most especially the vindictive Krishna Menon, fanatically socialist and rabidly anti-Western. Nehru was able to keep Menon under control especially after he removed him from his office, but Shastri does not have the advantage of long association nor Menon's allegiance.

If a nation like India can build and maintain a democratic government, it is proof that such a system can thrive in any land and among any people.

U. S. Is Preparing for Major Confrontation With Red China

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

The U.S. is preparing for a major confrontation with Communist China in Southeast Asia very similar to the one the U.S. faced with Russia over Cuba.

Combat-ready air and naval forces are being alerted in the Pacific in preparation for a sea and air quarantine of North Viet Nam to keep new Communist forces and arms out of South Viet Nam and Laos.

While the zero hour for putting the military sanctions into effect is still to be set by President Johnson, more than 150 ships and 350 planes are in strategic locations awaiting orders from the White House.

Designed to halt the immediate advance of Communist forces in Laos and South Viet Nam, the new military pressure has the political objective of clearing the way for the neutralization of these nations and the entry of Communist China into the United Nations.

That's the inside report of a high government official, with full access to all National Security Council policy papers on Laos and North Viet Nam, who has carefully analyzed the thinking of the foreign and defense advisers guiding President Johnson in his decision-making in the present crisis.

According to this official's private report, Secretary of State Rusk, Defense Secretary McNamara and presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy have convinced the President that a "controlled" confrontation could have beneficial results for the U.S. without greatly increasing the risk of war.

Once the Red Chinese come eyeball to eyeball with the overwhelming might of U.S. military power, these officials argue, Peking will be forced to make satellite North Viet Nam ease its military pressures in Laos and South Viet Nam. They contend that Peking has neither the air nor sea power to contest the U.S.

Even more important, according to their argument, the confrontation could create an atmosphere between Washington and Peking similar to that existing with Moscow — especially if the U.S. should offer the Chinese Communists surplus farm commodities.

PREPARING THE PUBLIC — To prepare the American people for the confrontation, administration officials, under the direction of Bundy and Bromley Smith, executive secretary of the National Security Council, will leak out stories of the U.S. military build-up in the troubled Southeast Asia area.

One New York publisher was called in by Bundy and briefed on how U.S. jet bombers were being assembled in the Philippine Islands at Clark Air Force base, and crews being trained to destroy targets in Communist Viet Nam.

While no direct mention of the coming quarantine was made, the publisher was told that the twin-jet B-57s were considered ideal for low-level raids against supply depots, small troop concentrations, bridges and naval craft.

All are likely targets, he was informed, if the U.S. is forced to attack the Communist sanctuary of North Viet Nam to cut off supplies to the Communist Viet Cong and Pathet Lao forces fighting in Laos and South Viet Nam.

CONTROLLING THE NEWS — As during the Cuban confrontation, Secretaries McNamara and Rusk are putting a tight clamp on the news to be given out on military encounters during the present crisis. Under their guidelines, all military reports must be screened by persons designated by them before the information is released. This is part of their "controlled response" program.

For example, in the downing of two U.S. planes over Laos, McNamara and Rusk forbade the release of pictures taken of the Communist anti-aircraft installations the day before the first Navy reconnaissance plane was hit.

They censored the pictures on the ground that once the date of the photographs was learned by newsmen, they would ask embarrassing questions on why the Navy pilots were not permitted to destroy the guns before they had to fly over that area again.

According to reliable Navy sources, no action could be taken against the radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns until specific permission was granted in Washington. This policy of tying the arms of U.S. pilots is still in effect, despite published stories to the contrary.

MAKING U.S. POLICY — Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the UN, has prepared a secret policy paper for President Johnson contending that the Geneva Agreement of 1955 provided for the neutralization of South Viet Nam. After studying the paper last week, the President called Stevenson at 2:00 a.m., getting him out of bed, to discuss the document. Significantly, two days later, Stevenson delivered a little-noticed speech before the Women's National Democratic Club indicating that the U.S. favors neutralization in both Laos and South Viet Nam.

French sources at the United Nations are predicting the admission of Red China after the November elections. Secretary General U Thant is scheduled to make the "arrangements" when he flies to Moscow next month to discuss Red Chinese membership with Premier Khrushchev.

Goldwater Looks For Party Victory

Declares He Will Win in Spite of 'Doom Shouters'

BY WALTER R. MEARS
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater declared today he intends to lead the Republican ticket—from top to bottom—to victory at the polls next November.

Goldwater said he can do the job, no matter what "the doom shouters" say.

"I intend to lead a united party on a platform of principle—the same platform and the same principle in every part of this nation," the front-running Republican presidential contender told the Texas Republican Convention.

Expects to Win
Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who plunged into the race for the GOP nomination Friday, argues a Goldwater ticket would spell defeat for Republicans seeking congressional seats, state and local offices.

Out to round up Texas delegates' votes at the Republican National Convention, Goldwater declared: "Whatever the dopesters and pollsters say—whatever we hear from the doom shouters in both parties—I in-this administration's notion of fiscal responsibility went no deeper than the wheeler-dealer mentality of a card shark."

Goldwater said Johnson's foreign policy is uncertain and "weak-kneed."

He charged this policy is "leading us into World War III, as surely as we were led into World War II by the same kind of stupid ineptitude."

er candidate for re-election who had a great deal to do with pushing Scranton into the race, said Rockefeller's decision was a sign that Scranton was awakening "technical, financial and emotional support across the country."

Sen. Norris Cotton, who managed Goldwater's unsuccessful campaign in the March New Hampshire primary, conceded in a separate interview that Rockefeller's action indicates there will be a "real contest" at the July convention.

Scott, a former Republican national chairman, said he believes a significant reassessment of positions is under way among convention delegates who have been listed as publicly favoring Goldwater but who are not legally bound to vote for him.

Possible Changeovers
Some 273 delegates fall in that category, according to an Associated Press survey. Major blocs in this group include Colorado 14, Florida 19, Illinois 31, Kentucky 16, Missouri 21, New Mexico 14, North Carolina 21, Ohio 15, Tennessee 12, Virginia 13 and Washington 22.

Scranton said at Topeka, Kas., today "conservatism is a living, vital, dynamic political concept."

"If we allow the conservative point of view to become tarnished and shorn," he said, "then Democrats could logically attack the GOP."

"The opposition party can't sell its gimmicks on the open American market unless we Republicans can fairly be accused of not offering a sane and reasonable alternative," he added.

Scranton sought support of the Kansas delegation to the San Francisco Republican convention after a foray Monday into Iowa that included an enthusiastic reception for him in Des Moines.

Kansas generally is viewed as a state favoring the presidential aspirations of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the front runner for

Prentice Man Missing on Canada Flight

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Albert Kunes of Prentice, Wis., has been identified as one of two mining company geologists missing a week on a flight north of Yellowknife, Northwest Territories.

Also missing since June 9 is Douglas Topp of Duluth, Minn., and Yellowknife pilot Chuck McAvoy, 30. Kunes and Topp are employed by Roberts Mining of Minnesota, according to information Monday.

Kunes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kunes of Prentice.

Scranton's address appeared to soft-pedal some of his differences with the senator over foreign affairs and civil rights.

whose school collapsed. Thirteen other pupils were injured. Three persons were injured in Akita.

Besides Niigata, the hardest hit cities were Murakami, Mito, Mito, Mito, and Toyosaka. Damage was not as heavy as in Niigata, which was without gas, water, electricity or normal telegraph and telephone communications.

In the northern area the total of houses destroyed was listed as 371 with 825 others damaged. 138 slightly damaged and several hundred flooded at first-floor level.

Bridges Carried Away
Five bridges were washed away, the railways were cut in 24 places and highways damaged at 24 places.

A refining center for nearly all of Japan's domestic petroleum, Niigata is on the Sea of Japan 160 miles northwest of Tokyo and is a chief port for trade with the Soviet Union.

Minutes after Niigata was hit, fire enveloped three 30,000-ton and two 45,000-ton petroleum storage tanks, sending flames, and smoke high into the darkening sky.

At the same time, the sea level dropped 13 feet, followed by a tidal wave which flooded lowland areas, washed small boats onto the land and crippled waterfront pumps installed to keep the shore from sinking into the Sea of Japan.

Frequent Quakes
The quake occurred in one of the most quake-prone regions of Japan. In 1948, Fukui, 130 miles southwest of Niigata on the Japan Sea coast, was laid in ruins ago today when it left Bristol Lake, about 50 miles north of the Arctic Circle and west of Bathurst Inlet. They were headed for Ichen Lake, about 175 miles to the southwest.

An official said temperatures in the barren area above the tree line were slightly above-freezing, but lakes were still frozen and snow covered currently there is around-the-clock sunshine in the region.

12 Planes
Twelve planes combed more than 1,000 square miles in Sunday searching.

Searchers believed bad weather could have forced the silver and green plane off course. It carried a 30-day supply of food and essential camping equipment.

The dead in Tsuruoka included three kindergarten children

Rhineland Man Denies Attempted Murder Charge

RHINELANDER (AP) — Eugene Fletcher, 26, of Rhineland, who was wounded twice in an exchange of gunfire with police, was arraigned in Oneida County Court Monday on charges of attempted first-degree murder and conduct endangering another.

Fletcher pleaded innocent to both charges and was ordered to appear at a preliminary hearing July 6. He was held in the county jail when unable to post $15,000 bond.

Fletcher was shot in the hand and hip when he exchanged shots with Rhineland officers sent to investigate a complaint that he was threatening his father with a pistol in the family home June 3.

He was released from a hospital during the weekend.

Bridge Collapses
"I saw one large bridge completely collapsed," he reported. "One of the two runways at the airport was covered with water. I tried to raise the Niigata control tower but there was no answer."

First news photos from Niigata showed the Showa-Ohashi bridge destroyed with two of its spans collapsed into the Shinano River. Another bridge was in-lact. In the background clouds of black and gray smoke billowed thousands of feet into the sky. The national police reported more than 50 houses had crumpled in Niigata and one major gasoline company's installation had been destroyed.

25 Per Cent of U. S. Voters Have No Political Interest

Research Shows Balloting of Americans Mostly Intuition

BY JOHN BARBOUR
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Now the American voter enters the crisis time of a crisis year—still a bottled-up genie of strange and unknown fogs and vapors. He is poked and prodded with quick, fever-chart interviews and primary elections—sometimes sharp attempts to forecast how he will behave when summoned forth to the fall.

Yet he remains largely a matter of intuition, historical patterns and current superstition—defying everything but the most

Who then is this marvel of modern democracy, this true paragon of power, this complexity of opinion and ignorance, this human, this American voter?

These things seem true, said Prof. Angus Campbell, director of SRC:

Voting Strength
—Since 1952—and perhaps for 20 years before—the normal voting strength of the two parties splits each year at about 54 per cent Democratic, 46 per cent Republican. Before 1932, a year of political rebellion in a nation emerging from the depression, the voters had favored the Republican party for many years.

—The voter is not a man of issues.

—For some 75 per cent, party loyalty is important. They have pledged their allegiance by varying degrees of conviction to one party—and this prejudice often alters what these voters perceive of the issues.

—Roughly 45 per cent have prejudged in favor of the Democratic party, 30 per cent in favor of the Republicans.

—But for a full quarter of the American population, the parties mean little and they have little interest in issues, candidates or campaigns.

Political Sleep
—They wander along in a sort of political sleep, and often when they do vote, they decide in the last hours before they go to the polls. Their reasons do not stand critical analysis, but then neither do those of many of their party allegiant neighbors.

That breakdown has remained through 16 years of SRC interviews. Indeed, the interviewers find, most Democrats and most Republicans are not made, they are born, inheriting their political beliefs from their parents, their grandparents, their family traditions.

They change flags only under the stress of grave crisis that reaches down to touch their lives.

Civil War
Listen to these voters: A Southerner associates Republicans with the Civil War: "Back in the Civil War a great uncle of mine they took him off and killed him and left him for dogs to eat. My granddaddy, they stole everything he had—that sticks in me and it would in you too."

A 57-year-old Georgia Negro: "My parents just taught me to love the Republican party. You see I was taught that the Republican party way back yonder was responsible for slaves getting their freedom."

Here are more party allegiances: "My father fit as a Rebel in the Civil War—taught us to hate Republicans."

"I am a dyed in the wool Democrat. I wouldn't vote Republican if I had to vote for a dog."

"We always done better when the Democratic party was in."

15 Research Studies Done For Doctorates

Paper Institute Graduates Complete Theses for Ph.D.

Fifteen research studies were completed as part of the requirements of the Ph.D. degree by this year's doctoral graduates of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, who participated in graduation Sunday.

The graduates and their research include Richard W. Abrams, "The Retention of Fibers from Dilute Suspensions"; George F. Bayer, "A Study of the Iron-Tartrate-Alkali System and Its Complexing Reaction with Cellulose-Related Polyhydroxy Compounds"; Winfield H. Bearce, Jr., "The Hydrolysis of from Paper Birch";

Crossman, "The Fate of the Aglucone Group in Aqueous-Chlorine Oxidation of Carbon-14 Labeled Methyl B-D-Glucopyranoside"; Carl A. Jentzen, "The Effect of Stress Applied during Drying on Some of the Properties of Individual Pulp Fibers";

Gerald Katz, "The Location and Significance of the O-Acetyl Groups in a Glucanmannan from Parana Pine"; Earl W. Malcolm, "A Study of the Borate-Carbohydrate Complex Formed in an Aqueous Medium"; Gerald L. Pellett, "Longitudinal Dispersion, Intrafiber Diffusion, and Liquid Phase Mass Transfer During Flow Through Fiber Beds";

R. Heath Reeves, "A Study of the Reaction Products Formed Upon the Alkaline Peroxide Oxidation of Lignin-Related Model Compounds"; Richard J. Waler, "Effects of the Uronic Acid Carboxyls on the Sorption of 4-O-Methylglucuron-4-Arabo-Xylans and Their Influence on Papermaking Properties of Cellulose Fibers"; Richard B. Wasser, "The Dynamic Mechanical Shear Properties of Concentrated Solutions of Polystyrene in Tricresyl Phosphate";

With these, 226 research studies in pulp and paper science have been completed by doctoral degree students at the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

My husband, went off the soup line and 30 cents a day pay when they went in."

"When them Democrats is in, they just lets the money roll on and that's what I like."

In sum, the interviewers find: —That politics, candidates and issues are often on the edge of the American consciousness. They just can't compete with some other elements of American life which actively concern people.

The reason seems to be that voters are humans first, political creatures a very poor second.

SRC interviewers have found that the American is concerned first and foremost with his financial comfort and adequacy—enough money, being or becoming free from debt, having a nice home.

Prime Source
Some 29 per cent cite this one reason as a prime source of happiness. The only competitive source of happiness they mention is their children.

And by far the leading cause of unhappiness expressed in the survey was inadequate finances—27 per cent of those polled cited it.

By comparison, no one cited community, national or world problems as source of happiness in the study conducted during the H-bomb uneasiness of the 1950s. And only 13 per cent cited these broad areas as a source of unhappiness.

So, it seems, it is only when national or world issues cross the personal path of the voter—or he perceives that things in general are getting worse—that he harkens to the political call.

Next: Element of prejudice.

Romania Will Free Political Prisoners

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Romania will empty most of its political prisons by the end of the year, says Deputy Premier Alexandru Birladeanu. In an interview with The Associated Press, Birladeanu said Sunday Romania had freed 7,674 political prisoners without publicity in the past 3½ years.

He promised a general pardon in August and said that by the end of 1964 "we will have practically no political prisoners."

Tuesday Upholds Use Tax On Private Firms at U. S. Oak Ridge Plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court decided Monday that Tennessee may impose its use tax on property used by two private companies in operation at Oak Ridge plants of the Atomic Energy Commission. The Justice Byron R. White delivered the unanimous decision. Tennessee sought to impose the 3 per cent use tax on Union Carbide Corp. and the H. K. Ferguson Co., which operate under contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission. Tennessee courts upheld the levy on the ground the firms are independent contractors and, as such, are taxable on their private use of government-owned property. Appealing to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department asked reversal of the state courts and said the United States, not the contractors, enjoyed the beneficial use of the property. The appeal said the case controlled liability of Carbide and Ferguson for about $10 million in accrued Tennessee use taxes. Under the contracts with Carbide and Ferguson, the United States pays any use taxes collected by the state from the contractors.
